COUNTY FILES $1,000,000 WPA PROGRAM

Doubles Size of Project as It Submits Application for Road, Bridge Jobs.

BOOSTED FROM $500,000

Project Would Provide Work for 500 Men for 2 Years, Engineer Says.

As its answer to reports that adequate work relief projects have not been provided here, Richland county today submitted its application for WPA funds for a $1,000,000 county-wide road and bridge project.

Plans for the project, which would provide work for 500 men for two years, were taken to Columbus by County Engineer Howard C. Sword and Stanley Horn, deputy engineer.

Admits County Lax.

Admitting that the county may have been lax in planning work relief programs, Sword said, "We intend to do our part in the road department to give jobs to the needy and to reduce the relief burdens of the cities and townships."

The proposed $1,000,000 program was boosted from the original $500,000 figure, Sword pointed out, "because we believe the county needs it."

A draft for an additional $186,000 ditch program is being revised at the county engineer's office and will be ready to submit to state WPA officials next week, Walter E. Rusk, deputy engineer, said.

Ditch Program Approved.

Drawn up by Rusk, the ditch program already has been tentatively approved by state WPA officials, but was rejected at Washington because the county's contribution was described as "too small and plans incomplete." It would give work to nearly 500 men during the summer and fall months

Serving a double purpose in giving the county road system needed improvements and reducing the heavy direct relief burden, Sword said the larger project would include 100 miles of roads and 55 bridges in all of the county's 18 townships.

It calls for widening and resurfacing of roads, construction of

(By United Press)

SEATTLE, Wash.—The captain of a tiny American fishing boat, ignoring coast guard cutters that had his craft under surveillance, waited today for a supply of high powered rifles and ammunition before beginning a personal war on Japanese vessels in the Bering sea.

Capt. J. E. Shields of the fishing boat Sophie Christensen messaged the Pacific Coast Codfish company that he had grown weary of the "negligence" of the U. S. government in protecting American fishermen.

"We have the God-given instinct to shoot straight," the radio message said. "Bering sea covered with Japanese fishing boats and nets north of Black Hills."

George Shields, secretary of the codfish company, said that the rifles and ammunition would be sent to Alaska.

TVA Reports 'Falsified', Morgan Says

Ousted Chairman Says 2 Directors Attempted to Mislead Public.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Arthur E. Morgan charged today that two Tennessee Valley authority directors—H. A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal—participated in falsifying a report on TVA negotiations for the purchase of utility properties owned by the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

A. E. Morgan, ousted chairman of the TVA, testified before a ten-man congressional inquiry committee, elaborating on charges he had made previously against the other two directors.

After making a general charge that "collusion, conspiracy and mismanagement" had characterized the administration of TVA, the tall, gray-haired former chairman said Lilienthal made a "persistent attempt" to convince the public that Commonwealth and Southern "was arbitrarily refusing to sell its properties."

Ready to Sell Claim.

Through Wendell L. Willkie, its president, Commonwealth and Southern repeatedly offered to sell "any or all" of its properties, Morgan said.

He testified at length regarding negotiations with the company, which he said were carried on largely by Lilienthal. After a meeting of Willkie and the TVA board last January, the former chairman said, Lilienthal issued a news release which "gave a very false and inaccurate impression" of Willkie's position.

"The news release was an explicit falsification, the natural result of which was to deceive the public on a vital issue, to engender increased public bitterness toward the utilities and to substitute conflict and recriminiation for open and above board dealing with the facts," Morgan said, adding:

"Both the other directors were deliberately and consciously parties to this falsification."

Morgan added that Lilienthal—who sat nearby in the committee

NAZI IRE KEEPS CRISIS SMOKING

BULLETIN

EGER, Czechoslovakia —(U.P.)—Thousands of Sudeten Germans turned the funeral for two comrades, killed by Czech police, into a demonstration for Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and unity with the third Reich.

(By United Press)

Nazi anger against the Czechs today menaced efforts to settle Europe's quarrels at the council table instead of on the battlefield.

The most important development on the tense Central European front was decision by Germany to protest to the Prague government against alleged Czech attacks on Nazis and on the concentration of Czech troops in the German-populated Sudetan border area.

The German press, under control of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, bombarded Czechoslovakia and Great Britain with charges and complaints of provocation so bitter in tone that they endangered success of peace talks on the minority question. The whole Nazi attitude was stiffened despite Britain's plea for co-operation toward a peaceful solution.

From the Nazi side of the crisis of last week-end was being rebuilt and every chancellory of Europe again waited fearfully lest

FINAL ACTION

Roosevelt Signs Bill Setting Up 15 Millions to Fight Disease.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today signed a bill inaugurating a $15,000,000 war against venereal diseases.

The act provides for the immediate appropriation of $3,000,000 to be used by the United States public health service during fiscal 1939 in a joint campaign with the states to set up public clinics to examine and treat infected persons.

Charred Wreckage of Plane In Which 10 Died

Here is the charred and twisted wreckage of the giant United Airlines "Mainliner" plane, which carried 10 persons to their deaths when it crashed into a muddy ravine eight miles east of Cleveland airport last night, en route to Cleveland and Chicago from Newark, N. J. Note the wreckage of the plane still smoldering in the picture at the top. In the bottom picture, the arrow indicates where some of the bodies had been removed from the wreckage a few minutes before the picture was taken.

BACKS BARKLEY

Lewis, Loser in Pennsy, Tries New Test in Kentucky.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— CIO Chieftain John L. Lewis urged organized labor today to support Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the administration leader, in his renomination battle against Gov. A. B Chandler.

An endorsement by Lewis in his capacity as chairman of labor's non-partisan league was made public at Lexington, Ky., shortly after he conferred here yesterday with associates in his unsuccessful campaign to select the Democratic ticket in Pennsylvania.

Informed persons indicated the Lewis faction wanted recognition of its strength and a promise of no reprisals before giving its active support to the Pennsylvania nominees.

Council Sets Stage For Final Action on Gas Rates June 7

Without comment, city council last night held a second reading of a new gas rate ordinance and set the stage for final action and a vote on the measure at its regular session June 7.

The new rate ordinance which will continue the present rates ($1 for the first 500 feet and 50 cents a thousand for all over that) is intended to replace the contract with the Ohio Fuel Gas company that expired May 15. The term is for three years.

It was council's second special meeting in as many weeks for the consideration of a gas rate ordinance. Seven members heard the reading of the bill, the two absentees being James E. Crum, councilman-at-large, and Third Ward Councilman George C. Kyle.

If the measure is approved June 7, the ordinance will then be submitted to the gas company which will have 30 days to either accept or reject the rates. Should it decide on the latter course, it must appeal to the state utilities commission before the expiration of the period.

The present rate would remain in effect, however, during the appeal, while the company would be called upon to prove that the rate did not provide a sufficient return on its investment. The city also would be required to show that the rate was justifiable, reasonable and unjust.

PLANE CRACKS UP IN SIGHT OF LANDING FIELD

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND—(INS)—"Simultaneous power failure of both engines" was blamed today by W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines, for the crash of the line's luxury "Mainliner" near here last night, with a loss of ten lives.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—From the tangled and charred wreckage of a luxurious "Mainliner" and from conflicting reports of witnesses, government and company investigators attempted today to establish the cause of a United Airline plane's crash last night in a muddy, wooded ravine only eight miles from Cleveland airport.

All ten persons aboard the 21-passenger ship—seven men passengers and a crew of three, including a girl stewardess—were killed instantly when the plane plunged to earth, at almost exactly the time it was due from Newark at the landing field, 10:15 p. m.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were removed from the wreckage by police, firemen, and volunteer workers from Cleveland and villages near the scene of the crash. Prompt action by Independence village firemen saved much of the airmail aboard the plane.

William Robertson, department of commerce inspector here, and United Airlines officials headed by William Feiten, Cleveland district manager, launched an immediate investigation. Two other government inspectors from Chicago flew here to join in the investigation, as did other air line officials, including Harold Crary, vice president.

One version of the accident was related by witnesses was that the plane burst into flames in the air. Another was that fire broke out only after it had crashed.

The scene of the crash was a lonely gully, nearly two miles from any road, and eight miles due east of the airport, in Seven Hills, a village south of Cleveland. Wreckage was strewn for several hundred yards and one wing was torn off entirely and lay some distance from the main part of the plane, indicating it had been sheared off when the craft struck a clump of trees.

The entire area was soaked in recent rains and rescue workers toiled in ankle-deep mud. Word of the crash spread rapidly, and by midnight traffic was tangled for miles around.

Fight Off Souvenir Hunters.

Early today the Cleveland police department sent extra crews of officers and blocked off the entire region. Some spectators attempted to tear off bits of the plane for souvenirs, and farmers complained that the tramping crowds were ruining their fields. One farmer threatened to take his shotgun to the crowds.

The list of dead, announced by United Airlines, was:

Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon, Chicago.

Co-Pilot A. S. Merrifield, Los Angeles.

Stewardess Mildred A. Macek, 24, Milwaukee.

L. Arthur Doty, 42, Boston.

E. H. Verblen, Douglas Aircraft company test pilot, Santa Monica, Cal.

C. F. Lickel, New York.

Ralph D. Morrell, New York.

R. C. Lewis, New York.

John Bostruen, Alexander, N. D.

James R. Moffett, Chicago.

Shy $5,582, Fund Drive To Continue

Leaders Decide to 'Carry On' Until Goal's Reached.

Just $5,582 stood between workers in Mansfield's Community fund and their goal of $53,950 today.

A total of $4,598 was reported at this noon's meeting in the First Methodist church, with the industrial division, headed by H. W. Arlin crashing into the "glory spot" with contributions of $2,350, more than half of all that was reported today.

One Division Meets Goal.

That report put the industrial division over the top by $1,626. It was the first division—and the only one to date—to equal its goal.

The campaign, it was decided, will go on until those tough five thousand dollars have been brought in. The decision came on the recommendation of four speakers. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church, Rev. Peter Young of the First Congregational church, Fred Chamberlain, division manager of the Ohio Public Service company, and P. H Ober, vice president of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce asserted it would be a "community tragedy" if the Fund campaign was permitted to fail.

Says City Has No Excuse.

"Things are not so bad as they are painted," he told the workers, "this is more a psychological depression than an economic one. Many people use the depression as a 'smoke screen' for not giving, but there is actually no good excuse for Mansfield not making its goal in this campaign."

He was supported in this statement by Sidney L. Palmer, Community Fund secretary who said he had received reports from five cities in Mansfield's class, announcing that they had reached their goals in Fund campaigns.

Of all divisions outside the industrial, the auto dealers was closest to its goal after today's reports had been received. It needs only $196 to "go over the top."

The public utilities division is close behind, needing only $217.

UTILITY FIGHTS

Ohio Fuel Balks at 48-Cent Gas For Springfield.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio Fuel Gas company appealed today to the state utilities commission from an ordinance passed April 25 by the city of Springfield which fixes the natural gas rate at 48 cents per 1,000 for a period from June 1 to Sept. 1, 1938.

The company claimed the rate ordinance is unlawful, unfair, unreasonable and unjust.

Flares, Lanterns Light Way to Death Scene In Muddy Field

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—Lighted only by flares, lanterns and automobile headlights, the narrow wooded gully in which the United Airlines Mainliner crashed last night with a loss of ten lives, presented a scene of utmost devastation early today.

Bits of metal, some still warm from the fire, others charred and melted, were strewn about a wide area, one wing lay several hundred feet from what was left of the fuselage. One motor had been thrown 25 feet up the side of the gully.

A grove of eight-inch trees through which the plane tore just before it crashed to the ground, was leveled, as if cut by a gigantic scythe. While the wreckage was still hot, and rescue workers were attempting to remove bodies, a crowd of curious and souvenir hunters converged on the scene and ripped bits of metal and other parts from the plane. Police, summoned from Cleveland and nearby suburban villages, were swamped by the crowds until reinforcements arrived.

The whole scene was ankle deep in mud, caused by recent rains.

'It Had to Come,' Says Wife Of Airliner's Veteran Pilot

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—"It was part of Monty's business. I suppose it had to come."

Thus, quietly pretty Mrs. Ethelrae Brandon, 28, accepted the news early today that her husband, Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon, had met a flaming death in an airliner near Cleveland last night.

After hearing details of the crash, and that Brandon was found with his death-stiffened hands still clutching for the controls, Mrs. Brandon added with a touch of tragic pride:

"That was like him."

It was like him.

Brandon had been a veteran of the British Royal Flying Corps during the war and had a record of several million miles in the air. He had been with the United Airlines and its predecessor companies for 11 years with never a crack-up.

He was one of the few pilots with a "1,000,000-mile" record as a transport flier.

He was 41 years old and had been married for five years. He is survived by a son, George, 2½.

South Threatens Senate Filibuster on Wage Measure

Southern Senators Demanding Differentials; Conference Study Speeded.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A powerful senate southern bloc—well versed in the art of filibustering—today closed ranks to fight to the finish the ironclad wage and hour bill passed by the house last night by a vote of 314 to 97.

Organizing for one of the bitterest senate fights of the session, southern leaders flatly served notice they will accept only a bill carrying wage and hour differentials for the south, and other sections of the country.

Although no public announcement has been made of their plans, leaders of southern opposition to the bill said privately they are prepared to "talk to death" the 25 to 40 cents per hour, and 44 to 40 hour work-week sliding three-year scale of the house bill.

Seek Early Compromise.

Fearful that the house bill may evoke a prolonged controversy and delay adjournment of congress, senate administration supporters planned to send it quickly to conference where it is hoped a compromise with the senate bill may be worked out

"I think the best way to avoid a lengthy dispute over the two bills, and the best solution to the problem is to send the bills immediately to conference," Majority Leader Barkley said.

A majority of the southern group hoped to send the house bill to the senate labor committee to work out a compromise measure with differentials for the south, as provided in the original senate bill passed last year.

Conceding that such a move may kill wage and hour legislation for this session of congress, Senator Thomas (D) of Utah, chairman of the labor committee, planned to fight any attempt to send the bill to his committee.

"A terrific job lies ahead in trying to harmonize the views of the two houses of congress," he said, "but I believe that it can best be done in conference"

Headed by Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, the southerners insist the south must have lower scales to be able to compete with industry in the north. They said the cheaper labor is warranted because of cheaper living conditions.

As a compromise, Harrison will offer amendments to the house bill to provide for differentials similar to the wage and hour codes established for southern industry by the invalidated NRA It met with general support from the Dixie senators

CAPITAL HEARS SCHOOL LOBBY BACKING CITIES

'Trade' for Aid in Enactment of Foundation Program Spurs Chances of Passage.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Prospects for an early solution of the poor relief financing problem in the Ohio legislature were brightened today by reports that the powerful school lobby had thrown its support behind the large cities hard-pressed for funds.

The school interests will be seeking several million dollars for the school foundation program at another special session contemplated for November, and are trying to win the support of the urban legislators.

Inasmuch as the foundation school program is of especial benefit to rural areas, it behooves the rural legislators to "play ball" with the city legislators seeking $17,000,000 for poor relief, an informed sources said.

Influence Brings Results.

The influence of the school lobby on the rural bloc was reflected in a reduction in the demands of some rural members for a share of any appropriations made by the legislature for relief.

While heretofore the general assembly has had to distribute relief grants among all the counties, regardless of their need, there now has developed sentiment among rural representatives for a distribution on a basis of need. Rural members of the house taxation-relief committee have endorsed this principle of distribution.

An official in the state auditor's office estimated that $2,000,000 in relief funds is in the hands of counties which have no relief problem.

Gov. Martin L Davey has announced he would call a special session in November to cope with a deficit in the school foundation program which the state department of education estimates will reach $12,000,000 by the end of the year.

Boards of education are paying out approximately $750,000 a year in interest on funds borrowed to maintain operations while they await the quarterly distributions from the state public school fund.

Some of the "city boys" were piqued by rural opposition to a proposed change in the formula for distribution of sales tax revenue to local governments.

Originally the local governments' share of the sales tax was distributed in the proportion that a municipality's tax duplicate bore to the total state duplicate.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Whitney to Face Strict Rules When He Departs From Sing Sing, Paroled

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—When Richard Whitney, the former president of the New York Stock Exchange, comes out of Sing Sing prison on parole, not sooner than three years from now, the conditions of his release will be the same that are imposed on all other parolees.

Mr Whitney will be required to be off the streets and home by 9.30 or 10 at night, he will be forbidden to frequent any place in which liquor is sold, he must shun evil companions, he may not drive an automobile, and he must obtain formal permission to leave the state, or even the city, to play a game of golf or attend the yacht races

Under these restrictions he will find himself unable to attend the opera, the horse show or the prize fights at Madison Square Garden without overstaying his curfew and risking return to Sing Sing as a parole violator

Regardless of whether any of his old clubs, including the New York Yacht club, are willing to take him back, he will not be permitted to visit them. Clubs have bars, and the bar of the New York Yacht club is no better than the corner saloon in the view of the parole system

Mr. Whitney's old clubs are a bit on the exclusive side and quite choosy about their membership, but there is one class of men, at least, who cannot afford to be seen in them.

The situation is similar to one which developed last winter in the social life of Sarasota, Fla., where Prince Michael Cantacuzene, late aide-de-camp to the commander-in-chief of the armies of the Czar of all the Russias, is employed as overseer of the Palmer interests. The winter before the Soviet ambassador, Mr. Troyanovsky, visited Sarasota for a brief vacation and was snubbed by Prince Mike, although they had been fellow cavalry officers under the Czar.

But this year, in view of the liquidations in Moscow of trusted members of the Soviet diplomatic service, the ambassador was the one who had the option. This time it made no difference how the prince felt about the matter. The ambassador could not afford to be seen in the company of a White Russian prince It might have cost his life before a firing squad in Moscow.

The avoidance of evil companions always is a delicate problem for a parolee. All former convicts are considered to be evil companions, and a paroled man may be picked up and sent back even if he was caught passing the time of day to a man he knew up the river. But it is also the purpose of the system to prevent a man's return to the old gang with which he associated at the time he fell into sin.

In Mr. Whitney's case the old gang was made up of members of the New York Stock Exchange and the Wall Street banking set, and it will be well for him to obtain a ruling on them. It would be sad indeed for an earnest penitent trying to go straight to be hauled back to Sing Sing for associating with leaders of New York finance and society.

A paroled burglar caught with a jimmy is deemed to be up to mischief, but there is no decision on record whether an ex-president of the stock exchange may be similarly judged for having a fathom of ticker tape in his possession.

Mr. Whitney's career to date in Sing Sing has been a distinct success, and without any overt act or word of complaint he has, by the publicity of his case, made propaganda for the abandonment of the old cell house which Warden Lawes, on the day of his arrival, described as the foulest and lousiest in the land. Whitney took the cell and lived there until he was eligible for promotion to a slightly less lousy one in his regular turn.

On the morning of his promotion, he called for a bucket of hot water, a brush and bar of soap and by breakfast time had scrubbed the cell from top to bottom to leave it as clean as possible for the next man. It was the first time in his history of Sing Sing that any prisoner had shown this consideration for another.

OKAYS PAVING OF 3 STREETS

Council Passes Legislation Authorizing $31,600 in Improvements.

Legislation authorizing a $31,600 street improvement program that includes the paving of three city streets was approved by council at a special session last night.

The program calls for the paving of Ausdale avenue from West Park boulevard to Linden road, Bartley avenue from Glessner avenue to Parkview street, and Willis avenue from First street to Arch street.

Of the total cost of the improvement, the property owners 'share is figured at $25,600 and the city's share, which will be paid from the automobile registration fee funds, at $6,000.

On Ausdale avenue, the property owners will be assessed for $14,000 while the city will pay $2,800. On Bartley avenue the property owners' share is $7,100 and the city's $2,700. Willis avenue property owners will pay $4,500 while the city will pay $500.

Work on the projects, which will be let by contract, is expected to be started in 30 days.

Council also passed preliminary legislation for the improvement of McPherson street from Howard street to Lawnsdale street. The resolution calls for the grading of the street and the paving of the roadway along with the construction of curbs and gutters.

2,000 DEFY CHILLY WEATHER TO HEAR OUTDOOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

Despite unseasonably cool weather, more than 2,000 persons crowded the east bleachers at Stadium Field last night to hear Mansfield high school's first spring music festival, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association.

The entire program was staged by 300 students from the music, dramatic and athletic departments of the school.

A feature of the evening's festivities was a colorful May pole dance by 21 girls of the Girl's Athletic association under the direction of Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, girl's physical education instructor.

Other numbers on the program included selections by the Senior high school band and A Capella choir under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe; dramatic reading by Grace Honse; a song by a chorus led by William Lewis; selections by a vocal sextet; a dramatic reading by Donald Speakman; decapitation act by Mary Alice Mead and Paul Davis, and selections by a German band made up of six members of the high school band.

Throughout the evening park-plan dancing was held in the gymnasium to music furnished by Harold Duda and his orchestra.

Winners of the ticket sale contest conducted by the three retail salesmanship classes were announced following the program. Boy winners were Karl Korokney, first; Jack Heck, second; Richard Grafmiller, third, and Marlin Durbin, fourth. The girl winners were Kathryn Pocock, first; Helen treneff, second, Mildred Durbin, third, and Evelyn Johnson, fourth. The first place boy and girl were presented with a $10 order to the Matthes clothing store and Kobacker's. The other six winners were given $5 in cash.

Arrangements for the festival were in charge of committees made up of faculty members and parents with Fred Kelly as general chairman

TRIAL SPEEDED

State to Close 'Puppy Love' Murder Case Today.

NEW YORK — (INS) — With the state rapidly driving its case to a close, the defense this afternoon was expected to begin presentation of a temporary-insanity plea for 16-year-old Donald F Carroll, jr, charged with slaying his sweetheart, Charlotte Matthiesen, also 16, last March.

Throughout the first day of actual testimony taking, the slim, nervous youth maintained a firmer grip upon his composure than did his own parents, or the parents of the girl he killed in an uncompleted suicide pact

Mrs. Christina Matthiesen, after testifying briefly to identifying the body of her daughter, at the time an expectant mother, wept audibly while Donald's original confession to intimacies with Charlotte was read.

"CHARACTER" PREFERRED

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y (AP) —Niagara university men look for character in a girl before anything else. In a questionnaire, 48 per cent of the collegians listed "character" as the most desired quality in a girl. Humor, sportsmanship, manners and cooking ability were among 45 other qualities selected by the students.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The girl in the old-fashioned long dress waved from the outdoor movie set across the rolling golf course adjoining, and called "Hey, Dolores, Dolores!"

The distant golfer turned, waved back in bewilderment, then waved again more enthusiastically when the old-fashioned girl shouted, "It's Ruby— Ruby Jolson —How you doin'?"

Then the old-fashioned girl turned back to the set.

"That was Dolores Hope—Bob's wife—I knew her by the swing."

Most any other day in the past year and a half would have found Ruby Keeler on that golf course, not bothering about pictures. She hadn't been in one since "Ready, Willing and Able." But now—long dress, false curls, hair ribbon and all—she was fulfilling a contract with RKO by starring in "Mother Carey's Chickens." She's the eldest chicken, the girl who falls for James Ellison, and she doesn't tap a step.

Lunchtime, we sat in Ruby's dressing shack under Universal's broiling sun—they were borrowing a location on the back lot near the Lakeside golf course—and talked and watched the spiders, ants, and flies do Disneyish tricks on the walls.

Mrs. Al Jolson talked weirdly for a movie actress Said, of course, she was glad to be working again, although she suspected they were using her simply because they'd signed a contract Said she thought it would be a good picture because they had such a good cast, meaning Fay Bainter, Ellison, Anne Shirley, Walter Brennan, et al Said she was just as glad they weren't using her in a musical—this way she didn't have to worry about whether her tapping was as good as the other girls' in dance pictures

She looked very pretty, sitting there at her dressing table, and just like the girl who was "half scared to death" every time she went into a scene for "42nd Street," her first picture five years ago Sounded like that girl, too

"I'm still scared," she admitted. "I can't get over feeling that it's a mistake, my being in front of the camera Every time I see the director going into a huddle with somebody I'm sure they're trying to think of a nice way to tell me I'm terrible and get rid of me. They've been very kind, though—tell me the rushes are all right I saw the rushes one day, but I couldn't tell—they always make me ill—and I haven't been since." . . . Oh, I'd like to do something worthwhile either on stage or screen, but I don't think I can, really . . . I do wish I were really good, though. . . ."

Unaccustomed as we are to meeting a genuine inferiority complex under make-up, this was delightful despite the heat and flies, especially as the complex's owner wasn't making a bid for sympathy.

She was just talking along, the same way she talked about her passion for detective tales—"I buy old ones, five for $2, sometimes"—or how she had to get up early each morning to drive to RKO for make-up and come back to her own neighborhood, or how funny it would be when they worked on the RKO "ranch" across the street from her home and she'd still have to drive in to get her curls on . . .

Miss Keeler still has us reeling.

South Threatens Senate Filibuster on Wage Measure

Southern Senators Demanding Differentials; Conference Study Speeded.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A powerful senate southern bloc—well versed in the art of filibustering—today closed ranks to fight to the finish the ironclad wage and hour bill passed by the house last night by a vote of 314 to 97.

Organizing for one of the bitterest senate fights of the session, southern leaders flatly served notice they will accept only a bill carrying wage and hour differentials for the south, and other sections of the country.

Although no public announcement has been made of their plans, leaders of southern opposition to the bill said privately they are prepared to "talk to death" the 25 to 40 cents per hour, and 44 to 40 hour work-week sliding three-year scale of the house bill.

Seek Early Compromise.

Fearful that the house bill may evoke a prolonged controversy and delay adjournment of congress, senate administration supporters planned to send it quickly to conference where it is hoped a compromise with the senate bill may be worked out.

"I think the best way to avoid a lengthy dispute over the two bills, and the best solution to the problem is to send the bills immediately to conference," Majority Leader Barkley said.

A majority of the southern group hoped to send the house bill to the senate labor committee to work out a compromise measure with differentials for the south, as provided in the orginal senate bill passed last year.

Conceding that such a move may kill wage and hour legislation for this session of congress, Senator Thomas (D) of Utah, chairman of the labor committee, planned to fight any attempt to send the bill to his committee.

"A terrific job lies ahead in trying to harmonize the views of the two houses of congress," he said, "but I believe that it can best be done in conference."

Headed by Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, the southerners insist the south must have lower scales to be able to compete with industry in the north. They said the cheaper labor is warranted because of cheaper living conditions.

As a compromise, Harrison will offer amendments to the house bill to provide for differentials similar to the wage and hour codes established for southern industry by the invalidated NRA. It met with general support from the Dixie senators.

To take the words of William Ansel, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ansel, Willard, President Roosevelt is a "great guy." The Willard youth, a U. S. Naval academy student, accompanied the president on his recent fishing trip as a member of the cruiser band. He visited his parents over the week-end, and said that Roosevelt mingled freely with the ship's crew and officers. The band of which he was a member played during the dinner hour and later in the evening for entertainment period at which the president always spoke.

For the first time in two years there are copies of "Gone With the Wind" at the Public library without reservations on them. When Margaret Mitchell's whirlwind success was first off the press, the library was so swamped with calls that nine copies of it were placed in circulation and from that time until the present there has been a waiting list for every copy — an all-time record for the Mansfield library. Next in line for that record is Louis Bromfield's "The Farm," which has carried a waiting list on five copies.

Mansfield Schoolmasters were strutting around their classrooms with an air of confidence today, for they have accomplished something that school athletic teams have been finding it difficult to do — beat Sandusky. Their softball team won over the schoolmasters in that city yesterday by a 5 to 2 score. Manager Harood Miller and his cohorts got double satisfaction out of the victory as it was the dedication game for the softball field at the new Sandusky stadium.

OKAYS PAVING OF 3 STREETS

Council Passes Legislation Authorizing $31,600 in Improvements.

Legislation authorizing a $31,600 street improvement program that includes the paving of three city streets was approved by council at a special session last night.

The program calls for the paving of Ausdale avenue from West Park boulevard to Linden road, Bartley avenue from Glessner avenue to Parkview street, and Willis avenue from First street to Arch street.

Of the total cost of the improvement, the property owners 'share is figured at $25,600 and the city's share, which will be paid from the automobile registration fee funds, at $6,000.

On Ausdale avenue, the property owners will be assessed for $14,000 while the city will pay $2,800. On Bartley avenue the property owners' share is $7,100 and the city's $2,700. Willis avenue property owners will pay $4,500 while the city will pay $500.

Work on the projects, which will be let by contract, is expected to be started in 30 days.

Council also passed preliminary legislation for the improvement of McPherson street from Howard street to Lawnsdale street. The resolution calls for the grading of the street and the paving of the roadway along with the construction of curbs and gutters.

2,000 DEFY CHILLY WEATHER TO HEAR OUTDOOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

Despite unseasonably cool weather, more than 2,000 persons crowded the east bleachers at Stadium Field last night to hear Mansfield high school's first spring music festival, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association.

A feature of the evening's festivities was a colorful May pole dance by 21 girls of the Girl's Athletic association under the direction of Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, girl's physical education instructor.

Other numbers on the program included selections by the Senior high school band and A Capella choir under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe; dramatic reading by Grace Honse; a song by a chorus led by William Lewis; selections by a vocal sextet; a dramatic reading by Donald Speakman; decapitation act by Mary Alice Mead and Paul Davis, and selections by a German band made up of six members of the high school band.

Throughout the evening park-plan dancing was held in the gymnasium to music furnished by Harold Duda and his orchestra.

Winners of the ticket sale contest conducted by the three retail salesmanship classes were announced following the program. Boy winners were Karl Korokney, first; Jack Heck, second; Richard Grafmiller, third, and Marlin Durbin, fourth. The girl winners were Kathryn Pocock, first; Helen treneff, second; Mildred Durbin, third, and Evelyn Johnson, fourth. The first place boy and girl were presented with a $10 order to the Matthes clothing store and Kobacker's. The other six winners were given $5 in cash

Arrangements for the festival were in charge of committees made up of faculty members and parents with Fred Kelly as general chairman.

'Trade' for Aid in Enactment of Foundation Program Spurs Chances of Passage.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Prospects for an early solution of the poor relief financing problem in the Ohio legislature were brightened today by reports that the powerful school lobby had thrown its support behind the large cities hard-pressed for funds.

The school interests will be seeking several million dollars for the school foundation program at another special session contemplated for November, and are trying to win the support of the urban legislators.

Inasmuch as the foundation school program is of especial benefit to rural areas, it behooves the rural legislators to "play ball" with the city legislators seeking $17,000,000 for poor relief, an informed sources said.

Influence Brings Results.

The influence of the school lobby on the rural bloc was reflected in a reduction in the demands of some rural members for a share of any appropriations made by the legislature for relief.

While heretofore the general assembly has had to distribute relief grants among all the counties, regardless of their need, there now has developed sentiment among rural representatives for a distribution on a basis of need. Rural members of the house taxation-relief committee have endorsed this principle of distribution.

An official in the state auditor's office estimated that $2,000,000 in relief funds is in the hands of counties which have no relief problem.

Gov. Martin L. Davey has announced he would call a special session in November to cope with a deficit in the school foundation program which the state department of education estimates will reach $12,000,000 by the end of the year.

Boards of education are paying out approximately $750,000 a year in interest on funds borrowed to maintain operations while they await the quarterly distributions from the state public school fund.

Some of the "city boys" were piqued by rural opposition to a proposed change in the formula for distribution of sales tax revenue to local governments.

Originally the local governments' share of the sales tax was distributed in the proportion that a municipality's tax duplicate bore to the total state duplicate.

TRIAL SPEEDED

State to Close 'Puppy Love' Murder Case Today.

NEW YORK —(INS)— With the state rapidly driving its case to a close, the defense this afternoon was expected to begin presentation of a temporary-insanity plea for 16-year-old Donald F. Carroll, jr., charged with slaying his sweetheart, Charlotte Matthiesen, also 16, last March.

Throughout the first day of actual testimony taking, the slim, nervous youth maintained a firmer grip upon his composure than did his own parents, or the parents of the girl he killed in an uncompleted suicide pact.

Mrs. Christina Matthiesen, after testifying briefly to identifying the body of her daughter, at the time an expectant mother, wept audibly while Donald's original confession to intimacies with Charlotte was read.

"CHARACTER" PREFERRED

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(UP)—Niagara university men look for character in a girl before anything else. In a questionnaire, 48 per cent of the collegians listed "character" as the most desired quality in a girl. Humor, sportsmanship, manners and cooking ability were among 45 other qualities selected by the students.

FAIR ENOUGH!

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—When Richard Whitney, the former president of the New York Stock Exchange, comes out of Sing Sing prison on parole, not sooner than three years from now, the conditions of his release will be the same that are imposed on all other parolees.

Mr. Whitney will be required to be off the streets and home by 9:30 or 10 at night, he will be forbidden to frequent any place in which liquor is sold; he must shun evil companions; he may not drive an automobile, and he must obtain formal permission to leave the state, or even the city, to play a game of golf or attend the yacht races.

Under these restrictions he will find himself unable to attend the opera, the horse show or the prize fights at Madison Square Garden without overstaying his curfew and risking return to Sing Sing as a parole violator.

Regardless of whether any of his old clubs, including the New York Yacht club, are willing to take him back, he will not be permitted to visit them. Clubs have bars, and the bar of the New York Yacht club is no better than the corner saloon in the view of the parole system.

Mr. Whitney's old clubs are a bit on the exclusive side and quite choosy about their membership, but there is one class of men, at least, who cannot afford to be seen in them.

The situation is similar to one which developed last winter in the social life of Sarasota, Fla., where Prince Michael Cantacuzene, late aide-de-camp to the commander-in-chief of the armies of the Czar of all the Russias, is employed as overseer of the Palmer interests. The winter before the Soviet ambassador, Mr. Troyanovsky, visited Sarasota for a brief vacation and was snubbed by Prince Mike, although they had been fellow cavalry officers under the Czar.

But this year, in view of the liquidations in Moscow of trusted members of the Soviet diplomatic service, the ambassador was the one who had the option. This time it made no difference how the prince felt about the matter. The ambassador could not afford to be seen in the company of a White Russian prince It might have cost his life before a firing squad in Moscow.

The avoidance of evil companions always is a delicate problem for a parolee. All former convicts are considered to be evil companions, and a paroled man may be picked up and sent back even if he was caught passing the time of day to a man he knew up the river. But it is also the purpose of the system to prevent a man's return to the old gang with which he associated at the time he fell into sin.

In Mr. Whitney's case the old gang was made up of members of the New York Stock Exchange and the Wall Street banking set, and it will be well for him to obtain a ruling on them. It would be sad indeed for an earnest penitent trying to go straight to be hauled back to Sing Sing for associating with leaders of New York finance and society.

A paroled burglar caught with a jimmy is deemed to be up to mischief, but there is no decision on record whether an ex-president of the stock exchange may be similarly judged for having a fathom of ticker tape in his possession.

Mr. Whitney's career to date in Sing Sing has been a distinct success, and without any overt act or word of complaint he has, by the publicity of his case, made propaganda for the abandonment of the old cell house which Warden Lawes, on the day of his arrival, described as the foulest and lousiest in the land. Whitney took the cell and lived there until he was eligible for promotion to a slightly less lousy one in his regular turn.

On the morning of his promotion, he called for a bucket of hot water, a brush and bar of soap and by breakfast time had scrubbed the cell from top to bottom to leave it as clean as possible for the next man. It was the first time in his history of Sing Sing that any prisoner had shown this consideration for another.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The girl in the old-fashioned long dress waved from the outdoor movie set across the rolling golf course adjoining, and called "Hey, Dolores, Dolores!"

The distant golfer turned, waved back in bewilderment, then waved again more enthusiastically when the old-fashioned girl shouted, "It's Ruby—Ruby Jolson—How you doin'?"

Then the old-fashioned girl turned back to the set.

"That was Dolores Hope—Bob's wife—I knew her by the swing."

Most any other day in the past year and a half would have found Ruby Keeler on that golf course, not bothering about pictures. She hadn't been in one since "Ready, Willing and Able." But now—long dress, false curls, hair ribbon and all—she was fulfilling a contract with RKO by starring in "Mother Carey's Chickens." She's the eldest chicken, the girl who falls for James Ellison, and she doesn't tap a step.

Lunchtime, we sat in Ruby's dressing shack under Universal's broiling sun—they were borrowing a location on the back lot near the Lakeside golf course—and talked and watched the spiders, ants, and flies do Disneyish tricks on the walls.

Mrs. Al Jolson talked weirdly for a movie actress. Said, of course, she was glad to be working again, although she suspected they were using her simply because they'd signed a contract. Said she thought it would be a good picture because they had such a good cast, meaning Fay Bainter, Ellison, Anne Shirley, Walter Brennan, et al. Said she was just as glad they weren't using her in a musical—this way she didn't have to worry about whether her tapping was as good as the other girls' in dance pictures.

She looked very pretty, sitting there at her dressing table, and just like the girl who was "half scared to death" every time she went into a scene for "42nd Street," her first picture five years ago. Sounded like that girl, too.

"I'm still scared," she admitted. "I can't get over feeling that it's a mistake, my being in front of the camera. Every time I see the director going into a huddle with somebody, I'm sure they're trying to think of a nice way to tell me I'm terrible and get rid of me. They've been very kind, though—tell me the rushes are all right. I saw the rushes one day, but I couldn't tell—they always make me ill—and I haven't been since." . . . Oh I'd like to do something worthwhile, either on stage or screen, but I don't think I can, really . . . I do wish I were really good, though. . . ."

Unaccustomed as we are to meeting a genuine inferiority complex under make-up, this was delightful despite the heat and flies, especially as the complex's owner wasn't making a bid for sympathy.

She was just talking along, the same way she talked about her passion for detective tales—"I buy old ones, five for $2, sometimes"—or how she had to get up early each morning to drive to RKO for make-up and come back to her own neighborhood, or how funny it would be when they worked on the RKO "ranch" across the street from her home and she'd still have to drive in to get her curls on. . . .

Miss Keeler still has us reeling.

'BISCUIT MAY BE RETIRED AS MATCH RACE IS OFF DUE TO HIS CONDITION

By DAVIS S. WALSH

NEW YORK — (NS) — With an abruptness so completely disconcerting that even Trainer Tom Smith didn't know about the decision, Seabiscuit, the handicap champion, was yesterday declared unfit for racing at this time and, forthwith, the $100,000 Memorial day match race with War Admiral simply ceased to exist. Today, there was better than a fair chance that the hardy, old Biscuit had mouthed his last bit and responded to his last bat in the ribs; that, to be specific, he might be permanently retired.

Only the sportsmanship of Owner Charles S. Howard, the say, carried the Biscuit's bad knees this far, meaning to within a few days of the big race, Mr. Howard meant to "work" the horse yesterday, but not to help his condition. The owner knew, in fact, that a work could only hurt the already distressed Biscuit; might, indeed, make an ice wagon horse out of him.

Owner Howard was willing to take that chance with a faithful, old friend in order to show the race crowd yesterday how really bad the horse was; that, briefly, he wasn't being withdrawn because the terms of the race were winner-take-all, with nothing for second place but a deficit. The idea was to show the public that the Biscuit, as is, would have done worse than finish second. He mightn't have finished at all.

Therefore, even if he does return to racing at some later date, it won't be for the Arlington classic at Chicago and certainly not for the Massachusetts handicap at Suffold Downs on June 29.

As for War Admiral, it was more than possible today that he might be started in the Suburban handicap at Belmont on Saturday, with the management exerting all possible pressure to this purpose upon Owner Samuel D. Riddle.

Needs Classy Stake To Replace Race.

THE management, for one thing, now has its biggest racing day open, without the semblance of a first rate stake, because of yesterday's action. For another thing, of all the $30,000 to $40,000 lost in pre-race expenses by all concerned, Mr. Riddle stands to lose least, and hence may feel that he owes somebody around here a race of some kind.

And, for a third, the management, in spite of intimations to the contrary, has been so far in the clear on this unfortunate business that it even went so far as take the initiative yesterday in persuading Owner Howard to pull out without delay.

Yes, Mr. Riddle may feel that he ought to do something with the Admiral before he takes the 1937 three-year-old champion out of town, and the Suburban may look good to him and then again, it may not. One of the entries is Pompoon, currently running like a fool, and, in fact, the winner of the Dixie handicap in Maryland only a short time ago in time that displaced the old track record of Seabiscuit himself.

Bad Knees Knock Race Into Ashcan

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—There may be an answer to the question whether Seabiscuit or War Admiral is the better horse. The anticipated match race which was to have provided the answer was just a memory today.

The $100,000, mile and a quarter race, scheduled for Monday at Belmont park, was cancelled yesterday because Seabiscuit's owner, Charles S. Howard, reported that his five-year-old horse was suffering from bad knees. He said Seabiscuit might risk permanent injury if he attempted to start on Monday.

Sweeps Series

Tribe, Led by Averill, Takes Yankees Into Camp by 9-5 Score on Home Field.

CLEVELAND — (NS) — A player's value to his club can be accurately judged by the runs which he bats in, and for that reason Earl Averill, veteran outfielder, today was given major credit for the hold the Cleveland Indians have on first place.

The Tribe defeated the world champion New York Yankees 9-5 here yesterday to sweep the abbreviated two-game series and it was Averill who led the way.

Hits Home Run.

Averill pounded out a home run in the third inning with two men on base and in the fourth he tripled with the bases loaded. The two hits drove in six of the Indians' runs. In the last six games Averill has driven in a total of 19 runs.

Johnny Allen, the temperamental right-hander, was in the box for Cleveland and pitched good, if not air-tight ball. He granted nine hits as he scored his fifth victory in a row.

The Yanks got to Allen for two runs in the second, another pair in the sixth and one in the ninth.

"Lefty" Gomez started on the mound for the Yanks, but was driven to cover in the fourth inning. Steve Sundra finished the game.

The Indians nicked Gomez for three runs in the third on Averill's circuit drive and then pushed across five more in the fourth. The final Cleveland run came in the seventh.

Every man in the Indians' lineup shared in the 13-hit attack. In addition to Averill, Lyn Lary, Bruce Campbell and Sammy Hale each made two hits.

Meets Red Sox.

With the immediate threat of the Yankees beaten off, Cleveland was to take on its foremost challenger for the lead, the Boston Red Sox today.

Pitches Jock's Team to 7-1 Victory Over Church.

Joe Wentz entered softball's hall of fame yesterday when he set the South Main church team down without a hit in a seven-inning game at Liberty park.

Wentz hurled Jock's Billiards to a 7 to 1 victory over the churchmen, who tallied their lone run in the first inning.

The no-hit hurler struck out 10 of the 24 men to face him, and issued only three passes as his teammates collected seven bingles.

Relays Champions Continue Spectacular Performances

Brelsford Among Mansfield Record-Breakers Still Dominating Headlines.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MUCH will be heard from many of the high schoolboy athletes who competed in the late Mansfield Relays.

A check of their marks since the Mansfield carnival discloses the fact that they are continuing their spectacular work.

Only one of the Relays' record-breakers has bettered the mark he made here April 23, but all have been consistent in their performances, and we will be badly disappointed if the 1938 Mansfield winners do not become prominent collegiate stars on a future day.

Collegiate Prospects.

Mansfield participants we expect to see further their accomplishments when they advance to collegiate competition are Lowell Carmany of Cleveland Collinwood, a sprinter; Quintin Brelsford of Birmingham, Mich., a half-miler; Howard Leahy of Cleveland East Tech, a miler; Bob Wright of Huntington, W. Va., a hurdler; Rufus Allison of Cleveland Central, a broad jumper; Keith O'Rourke of Warren, a high jumper, and, of course, Johnny Linta of Mansfield, a pole vaulter.

There are other athletes of this year's Relays who should make their mark in collegiate competition, but merely mentioned a few to refresh your memory on their indentity.

Brelsford has been particularly impressive since the Mansfield competition, and today Michigan accepts him as the greatest half-miler in the state.

The 18-year-old Birmingham senior, who is a brother of Clayton Brelsford, former Michigan miler, has not been defeated in 20 races covering three years of competition.

Except in one instance this year, Brelsford has won all his races under two minutes. His times have compared favorably with those of any college freshmen middle distance runner in the country.

The high point of his feats so far this season was his record-breaking victory in Mansfield when he ran the half mile in 1:59.2 to break the old mark of 2:04.

If you paid any attention to the touted Michigan runner in his appearance here, you will probably remember that he got off to a bad start. He dropped back to eighth place in one phase of the race, but managed to reach the quarter mile post in 60 seconds. The fact that he raced the final quarter in :59.2 is a tribute to his endurance.

Since his sophomore year, Brelsford has been the state Class B high school champion of Michigan. He is expected to dominate his specialty in the meet again this year, and may break the record of 1:58.8.

O'Rourke Outstanding.

O'Rourke has also been outstanding as his leap of 6 feet, 3 3-16 inches in last week's district meet attests.

Mansfield's own Linta is the only record-breaker in the Relays who has bettered his mark. Linta vaulted 13 feet to better his Relays' height by three and a half inches.

Grade Schools Hold Carnival

Bowman Defending Champ at Stadium Thursday.

The annual city-wide grade school track and field carnival will be held at Stadium field at 3 p. m. Thursday.

This carnival will conclude the grade school athletic season. More than 20 triangular and quadrangular meets have already been staged by the young schoolboys.

Bowman, Hedges and Bushnell rate as the stronger teams in this year's affair, which will find 10 teams in competition. Bowman is the defending champion.

A trophy emblematic of the city grade school championship will be awarded to the team winner. The first four places in each event will count, and ribbons will be awarded to the individuals.

The meet will be staged under the supervision of Harry E. Mehock, Mansfield high track coach, who conducts the grade school track program.

Leaders Meet Central Fruit

Vaults to Defend Unbeaten Record Thursday.

The Mansfield Metal Vaults will attempt to retain their slim lead in The News-Journal Class B golf league Thursday when it clashes with the Central Fruits in the feature match at Possum Run.

Leading the league by virtue of its 5 to 0 victory in the opening matches last week, the Vaults are expected to face a real test in the Central Fruit club. The Grocery outfit dropped a 3 to 2 decision in the inaugural affair.

At's Kicks, in the runner-up spot, a point behind the pace-setters, will try to remain on that rung of the circuit ladder against the third-place Auxter Motors. Only a point separates the Motors and Shoemen.

In the other matches, The News-Journal will attempt to hit a winning stride against the Ohio Public Service club and the last-place Elks lodge faces the Bissman team.

Record Crowd Seen For Bout

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The fight between Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden Bowl tomorrow night will be the richest welterweight championship match in history if gate receipts are near the $250,000 mark predicted by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

"With any kind of breaks in the weather, the bout should draw at least 50,000 spectators," Jacobs said.

Anything over the $200,000 mark will better the top set by Ross and Jimmy McLarnin in their fist 1934 battle.

Ohio State Rushes Football Season

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Opening of the football season is still more than four months away, but the ticket situation is booming at Ohio State university.

The "season ticket" sale for the five at-home games started today, but Director of Sales Henry Taylor had $5,302 in the "sack" as the result of some early birds "jumping the gun" and getting their bids in yesterday. The "sale by mail" on season tickets continues to Aug. 15.

Points Legion For Next Foe

Durant's Men to Meet Marion Here Sunday.

Encouraged by the power displayed at the plate, Skipper Dewey Durant today pointed his American Legion baseballers for their second home Central Ohio semi-pro league game with Marion at the Fairground Sunday.

Marion dropped its first game of the season last Sunday to New Philadelphia, 7 to 2, but the club appears to pack more punch than it showed in its debut.

Play With Marion.

Included in the Marion lineup are Stiewe, a shortstop, and Robbins, an outfielder, who performed in the Ohio State league last year.

Durant said today it is likely that Howard Patterson will start against the Marionites Sunday, leaving Aid Geiger and Lefty Deeds ready for the Memorial day game in Coshocton.

The Legion pilot was well pleased with the pitching of Deeds last Sunday in the one-sided victory scored at the expense of Logan.

Durant plans a couple of practice sessions this week to prepare the Legionnaires for the Sunday and Monday tussles.

Willard to Play.

Announcement was made today that Ed Willard, John Carroll university football star, who performed with the Mohican Chevrolets last year, will join the Legion club in a couple of weeks.

What position he will be assigned to has not been definitely decided, Durant said.

Juniors Lift Lid Thursday

The American Legion junior baseball team will open its season at 4 p. m. Thursday at the Fairground against Bud Ziegler's Yankees of the City Playground league.

The junior team is piloted by Dewey Durant, who also manages the Legion semi-pro club. Games with Legion teams of other cities have also been scheduled for the junior club.

Old Lefty Grove Hurls Eighth Win

Pitches Red Sox Into 2nd Place as He Stops Tigers for 265th Victory.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Strike up the band and shout the praises of "Lefty" Grove, the ancient southpaw who at 38 is proving himself the greatest pitcher in baseball.

Grove, who four years ago was termed through by many experts, scored his eighth straight victory yesterday as he pitched the Boston Red Sox into second place in the American league with a 5-4 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Applies Pressure.

Grove had to pitch with all the cunning born of 18 years of professional experience, 14 of them in the majors, to close out his triumph. With the Red Sox leading, 5-4, in the ninth, Grove had to face Rudy York, and Hank Greenberg in the Tigers batting order.

York and Greenberg popped out. Tebbets got on. Then Don Ross popped to the infield and Grove had won his 265th major league game, more than any other active hurler in the majors.

Jimmy Foxx's homer with a mate on base supplied the Red Sox with their winning margin. It was one of the five hits Boston made off Elden Auker and George Coffman.

The Chicago White Sox trimmed Washington 10-3, and the Philadelphia Athletics won from the St. Louis Browns, 6-1.

The Boston Bees regained third place in the National league by staging a whirlwind finish to thump the Cincinnati Reds, 10-9.

The New York Giants held their 2½ game lead over the Chicago Cubs by pounding out a 9-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kayo Mungo.

Knocking Van Mungo out of the box in the fifth, the Cubs shellacked Brooklyn 10-4 for their sixth win of seven games played in the east. Tex Carleton limited the Dodgers to eight hits to score his fifth victory.

The Pirates-Phillies were rained out.

Four Games Billed In Y Loop Today

The Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league will return to action at 6:15 p. m. today with a four-game program. The teams opened the championship race last week, but only two games were played.

Pros Descend On Inverness

Prepare for Invitational Opening Thursday.

TOLEDO—(NS)—The vanguard of a group of top flight golf professionals descended upon Toledo today to prepare for the fourth Inverness invitational best ball golf tournament.

The tournament opens at Inverness Country club Thursday afternoon and ends Sunday. It offers $4,600 in cash prizes.

Paired Into Teams.

The Inverness invitational is a series of best-ball matches, with the pros paired into teams for the duration of play. Scores are cumulative, so that 18 holes must be played in each match. Each team must meat each other team once.

The cumulative scoring plan allows one point for each hole won, and is carried on, match to match. Thus if a team finishes its first round two up and its second one down, it will have a score of plus one at the end of two matches. Likewise, if the first match is two down and the second one up, the team finishes the second minus one.

Favorites to capiure this year's event are Horton Smith and Lighthorse Harry Cooper, last year's winners, and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, who won the first Inverness meet in 1935.

Others Entered.

Other teams entered are Jimmy Thomson and Tommy Armour, Vic Ghezi and Sam Snead, Gene Sarazen and Dick Metz, Frank Walsh and Willie Goggin, Lawson Little and Jimmy Demaret, and Ky Laffoon and Ed Dudley.

Oilmen Hosts To Columbus

Play Cardinals Sunday at League Park.

Mansfield's Hi-Speed semi-pro baseball club will attempt to regain its winning stride Sunday when it entertains the Columbus Cardinals at League park.

The Mansfield club, which suffered its initial setbacks of the season last Sunday, dropping a double header at Sandusky, will be after its third victory.

Manager Earl Herrick announced today that either Petey Beer or Bill Knackstedt will toe the mound against the Capital City club. Knackstedt made his debut as a starting pitcher in the nightcap against Sandusky and, although he lost a 4 to 2 decision, held the hard-hitting Amburns to three hits.

OFFER TO YOUNG MEN

Who Hanker to Smoke a Pipe

MEN: Complete smoking pleasure comes only from smoking fine tobacco, and starting under ideal conditions. Through this unusual offer we are introducing to you pipe smoking at its best.

Here's Our Offer

First: Trial Packets of each of the three styles of world-famous Edgeworth, wrapped in heavy foil. Edgeworth, famous for more than 35 years, has always contained only the finest tobacco leaf on the market. We know that you cannot make good tobacco from inferior tobacco leaf any more than you can get the pleasure of choicest porterhouse steak for a rump steak price. We gladly pay premium prices to give you a finer smoke. This costly leaf is then manufactured to the high Edgeworth standard—better tobacco, made to smoke cooler, means no tongue bite and permits you to enjoy fully its enhanced flavor, greater mildness and richer aroma.

Second: A handsome Signature Pipe (made by Linkman) that has already been "Broken In" (mechanically pre-smoked with genuine Edgeworth). It's sweet and gentle from the start. Then to give you an added interest in this pipe, we engrave your own personal signature in gold color on the stem. No pipe so personal.

LOSSES RULE GENERAL LIST IN QUIET MART

Declines of Fractions to More Than Point Registered Near Second Hour.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Small offerings pushed stocks down for further moderate losses in a quiet market today.

Declines of fractions to more than a point were general near the second hour.

Dividend cuts accentuated declines in a few spots, including Union Carbide. Eastman Kodak broke 4 on the first sale.

Bonds were even. Major commodities tended mostly lower.

The downward trend in prices of major farm products under the shadow of large crops contributed to liquidation in mail order and farm implement shares. Rails were oppressed by reports of fading chances for congressional action at this session on the measure to broaden RFC lending powers to aid financially-ailing carriers.

Wall Street continued to orient its views to the possibility of a business turn for the better late in the summer or in the fall.

The "Iron Age" said "the steel industry is looking for at least a moderate upturn in August," despite the "discouraging current situation."

ONTARIO SCHOOL GIVES DIPLOMAS TO 28 THURSDAY

Springfield Township Grads to Hear Van Buren, O., Superintendent.

Springfield township high school at Ontario will graduate a class of 28 seniors at exercises at 8 p. m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

The commencement speaker will be A. J. Hooley, superintendent of the Van Buren, O., schools. Helen Friday will be the salutatorian and Ila Mae Smith has been selected as valedictorian.

Musical Program Arranged.

Musical numbers on the program will include two selections by the high school orchestra, "Golden Jubilee Overture," and "March From Joshua"; "Neopolitan Nights," and "Dance, Ye Gypsies," sung by the seventh and eighth grade chorus; a piano solo, "To Spring," by Grein, played by Lois Laubscher; "Luxenbourg Gardens," and "March of the Marionettes," by the Girls' glee club; "De Old Ark's A Moverin," and "Steal Away," by the boys' octette; the mixed chorus will sing Sullivan's "Lost Chord," and the program will come to a close with the class and alumni singing the school song. Rev. R. A. Hall, pastor of the Ontario Community church will give the invocation.

The class will be presented for graduation by L. C. Stingel, superintendent of schools, and L. R. Snyder, president of the board of education, will present the diplomas.

Here's Class Roster.

The 1937-38 school year at the school came to a close Tuesday afternoon at the conclusion of regular classes. Final report cards will be mailed to students as soon as scholastic records have been completed.

MEET TODAY ON MILK PROTESTS

Producers From Richland Area To Gather At Courthouse.

Dissatisfied milk producers from Richland and nearby counties are expected to register their complaints at a mass meeting at 8 p. m. today at the Richland county courthouse.

The session, called by a group of 25 producers from the northcentral Ohio area, will be the second attempt in the past two weeks to get producers together in a mass protest against low prices and health department regulations of producers. A previously scheduled meeting at the city building did not materialize.

About 250 producers in this section have been invited to the meeting.

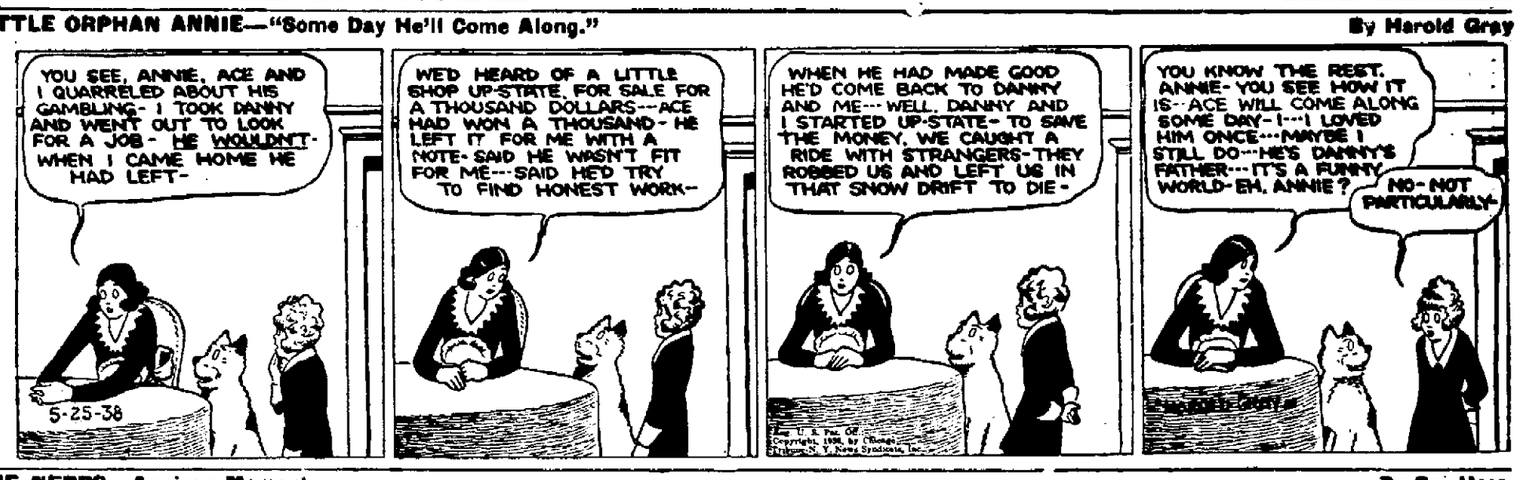
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—"Some Day He'll Come Along." By Harold Gray



YOU SEE, ANNIE, ACE AND I QUARRELED ABOUT HIS GAMBLING- I TOOK DANNY AND WENT OUT TO LOOK FOR A JOB- HE WOULDN'T- WHEN I CAME HOME HE HAD LEFT-
5-25-38
WE'D HEARD OF A LITTLE SHOP UP-STATE FOR SALE FOR A THOUSAND DOLLARS--ACE HAD WON A THOUSAND- HE LEFT IT FOR ME WITH A NOTE- SAID HE WASN'T FIT FOR ME--SAID HE'D TRY TO FIND HONEST WORK-
WHEN HE HAD MADE GOOD HE'D COME BACK TO DANNY AND ME--WELL, DANNY AND I STARTED UP-STATE- TO SAVE THE MONEY, WE CAUGHT A RIDE WITH STRANGERS-THEY ROBBED US AND LEFT US IN THAT SNOW DRIFT TO DIE-
YOU KNOW THE REST, ANNIE- YOU SEE HOW IT IS--ACE WILL COME ALONG SOME DAY-I--I LOVED HIM ONCE---MAYBE I STILL DO--HE'S DANNY'S FATHER---IT'S A FUNNY WORLD- EH, ANNIE?
NO- NOT PARTICULARLY-

TEN KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES NEAR CLEVELAND

Tell of Crash Flames.

Scores of residents of Seven Hills, Maple Heights, Independence Village, and other suburban communities to the south of Cleveland reported to investigators that they knew the plane was in trouble from the sound of the motors as it passed over head, flying unusually low.

Mrs. Mary Selig, wife of the Independence mayor described it as "A whistling sound."

James Doran, 45, of Independence, and several other witnesses told authorities and reporters that they saw the plane burst into fire in the air, and a few minutes later heard the crash.

Airline officials said, however, that what appeared to be flames probably were flares dropped by the pilots in their efforts to land. James Wynee, radio operator at the airport, reported he saw the plane's landing lights turned on what appeared to be about eight miles from the airport. Suddenly the lights disappeared, he said.

Heat thrown off from the blazing ship was so intense that the first persons to reach the scene were unable to get within a hundred feet of the plane for more than an hour.

Misses Two Level Fields.

Fate decreed that the plane should miss two level fields, one on each side of the gully, which probably would have permitted a safe landing. Conditions of the wreckage indicated that the pilots were attempting to set down the plane because of some difficulty which probably developed only a few minutes before the crash.

At 10:07 p. m., when he was over Parkman, 42 miles from Cleveland, Brandon made his last radio report to the United Airlines radio station at Cleveland airport. The message transmitted by Co-Pilot Merrifield said:

"Merrifield reporting. Ship over Parkman, Ohio, four thousand feet altitude. Everything O. K."

It was the first air transport crash in the vicinity of the Cleveland airport. United Airlines officials said the deaths were the first passenger fatalities in 42,000 flights, over a period of 11 years, on their New York-Cleveland run.

Stewardess 'Loved' Flying, Aunt Says.

MILWAUKEE —(INS)— Flying was life—and death—to Mildred Macek, the 24-year-old stewardess, who was one of the ten persons killed in the air crash near Cleveland last night.

Only a week ago she told her aunt, Mrs. Walter K. Moss, with whom she lived here:

"I love flying. I wouldn't give it up for anything."

A registered nurse, she graduated from high school here and obtained her flying job last August. She was recently transferred to the New York-Cleveland run.

Air Chief Arrives For Crash Inquiry.

CLEVELAND—(U P)—W. A Patterson, president of the United Air lines, said today that "no effort will be spared to collect every pertinent detail as the basis for a complete analysis of this" (Plane accident)

Patterson issued a formal statement as he arrived here from Chicago with a group of operations and engineering officials of the company by special plane to investigate last night's crash.

"Technical officials of our company have begun a thorough study of this accident . . . our work will be conducted in co-operation with the bureau of air commerce. No statement as to the cause can be made accurately until all available facts have been obtained."

Patterson said as had another United official earlier, that it was the line's first passenger plane accident in 11 years of operations between New York and Cleveland.

Passenger on Way To Kin's Funeral.

CHICAGO —(INS— L. Arthur Doty, an official of the Texaco company, was rushing to Chicago to arrange the funeral of his brother Harold when he crashed to his death in an airliner near Cleveland last night.

Harold Doty had been struck and killed by a railroad train Monday night. Coroner's office officials said they believed he had committed suicide.

L. Arthur Doty was head in Boston, formerly resided in Decatur, Ill., and his parents still maintain their home.

NAZI IRE KEEPS CRISIS SMOKING

some outbreak along the border touch off the war that seemingly had been forestalled under British leadership for peace.

More hopeful word again came from Prague, where both government and Nazi leaders said that conversations would be continued in an effort to settle the minority issue which Nazi Germany has used to further plans for expansion in central Europe.

Meanwhile, Great Britain's determined and "realistic" program for European peace encountered new difficulties in Spain. The Loyalist government broke through insurgent lines on the Catalonian front in a counter-offensive designed to recapture Barcelona's power source in the Tremp area. Huge Loyalist reinforcements, supplied with fresh war materials, pounded at the rebel trenches and claimed to have advanced over the San Cornelio range of mountains to within six miles of Tremp.

From Valencia, dispatches told of the bombing and sinking of the British freighter Thorpehall. Rebel planes have been bombing Valencia almost daily.

Elsewhere:

China—Japanese dispatches reported the fall of Lanfeng as their armies pressed on toward the provisional capital at Hankow, attempting for the third time to trap the main Chinese defense forces. Fighting at Lanfeng was reported unusually severe.

United States — Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles admonished the American people to mind their own business regarding internal policies of other nations—a speech viewed as putting the lids on remarks by administration officials critical of foreign dictatorships.

ENGINE UPSETS

Engineer, Fireman, Killed In Illinois Wreckage.

FREEPORT, Ill.—(INS)—The engineer and fireman of a Great Western railroad passenger train were killed today when the locomotive was derailed, plunged down an embankment and overturned near here.

The train was en route from Minneapolis to Chicago.

Two express cars and a day coach also were derailed.

COUNTY FILES BIG WPA PLAN

The county would be required to contribute approximately 20 per cent of the total cost of the combined projects. Sword pointed out, however, that much of the amount would be included in equipment and road materials provided for the project.

The county's share, which probably would be about $200,000, would come from the regular road and bridge fund.

The funds would be well spent, the engineer said, since the county road department has used $250,000 on work relief road and bridge projects in the past four and a half years without the help of an expansive federal aid program.

In addition to the county's proposed federal aid project the Mansfield board of education is preparing to submit its bid for a PWA grant for $1,000,000 building program in the city.

Should even one of the major projects be approved by the federal government, jobs would be available for most of the 712 men in the county who are eligible for work relief jobs. In that event, the direct relief load would be limited to the persons who are unable to work on construction jobs, it was said.

FLARES LIGHT SCENE OF DEATH

The gully in which the crash occurred is swampy in character, and rains had made it into a morass.

Only two narrow country lanes were available for fire trucks and ambulances, which bogged down in the mud, required tractors from nearby to haul them out.

Last bodies to be removed from the wreck were those of Pilot James (Monty) Brandon, Chicago, who started flying with the Canadian Royal Air Force in 1916, and Co-Pilot A. S. (Bud) Merrifield, of Los Angeles.

Until they were placed in ambulances, the ten bodies lay side by side on the hill slope.

So badly burned were the bodies that it was impossible to tell at first examination which was that of Stewardess Mildred A. Macek, 24, of Milwaukee.

Mail, from the burst mail compartment, was strewn over the crash area. Much of it was saved.

A pack of playing cards, undamaged except for the mud, was found where it had fallen from the crashing plane.

Many souvenir hunters and spectators became lost in the dense woods and briar patches of the gully.

Circus Gun Battle Leads to Wounding of 2 Deputies.

BEATTYVILLE —(AP)— State highway patrolmen investigated today a gun-battle at a circus here that left two men dead, six persons wounded and caused performers hurriedly to strike their big top and leave this little mountain town.

The dead were Barlow Durbin, Charles Blount, both of Beattyville, Ky. The wounded were Deputy Sheriffs John Mays and Robert Allen, both of Beattyville; Lincoln Moore of Beattyville, William Walden and his son, Donald, 8, of Ida May, Ky., and an unidentified circus employe.

Allen informed Mayor Tommy Pryse the shooting started as the deputies attempted to arrest Durbin on a charge of drunkenness.

TOAD HOPS AGAIN

Workmen Find It In Concrete Poured In 1921; It Lives.

VINCENNES, Ind.—(AP)—Workmen tearing down concrete fence posts on the farm of Paul Fry, former state director, saw a dark object in one post that had been poured in 1921.

They extracted a flattened toad from the concrete. Fry said it revived and hopped away after being doused with water.

'Peasants' at May Festival

Five pretty "peasants" in colorful dresses and aprons, will sell ice cream and candy tonight at the May festival staged at Stadium field under the auspices of the Senior high school P. T. A. A program of music, dancing and dramatics will be presented. From left to right the Senior high "peasants" are Doris Kiraly, Virginia Williams, Vivian Walters, Kay Glessner, and Betty Love.

SHIFT SENIOR HIGH'S MUSIC FESTIVAL TO STADIUM TONIGHT

In a last minute change, the Senior high school spring music festival, scheduled to be held on the school lawn tonight, was transferred to Stadium field, it was announced today.

The change was made because of the condition of the lawn in front of the building, soggy from rains during the past week, making it impossible to erect bleachers for spectators.

Lights will be strung along the east and west sides and across the field at the stadium. In case of rain tonight, the festival will be postponed until Wednesday, and if it should rain again tomorrow, it will be moved back to Thursday.

The evening program will include selections by the high school band, A Cappella choir, German band, vocal solos, dramatic readings, folk and tap dance numbers and instrumental novelty numbers.

Park plan dancing will be held throughout the evening in the gymnasium with Harold Duda and his orchestra furnishing the music.

The event is being sponsored by the Senior high school Parent-Teacher association.

MISSIONARIES TELL OF WAR

ti traveled only by night and the train was kept in total darkness. Rushing through the night, the passengers suddenly heard the hum of motors in the air, and looking up counted the lights of five Japanese planes circling over the approximate path of the train.

The train was brought to a stop and passengers were told to run and find shelter where they could. Rev. Matti, stumbling through the dark, heard a bomb explode about a hundred feet ahead of him, and when the planes had gone and they could look after the injured, he found that four had been killed and six wounded by the shell.

He went on to Shanghai and arrived a few hours after a bombing raid had killed 1,000. The bodies were still in the streets and the crude wooden roughboxes were piled high along the streets.

Japan, eager to counteract the bad impression that her activities in China have created throughout the world is constantly on the alert for favorable propoganda, and many of the responsible officers are fighting to prevent depredations by their men, Rev. Matti says. He tells of watching a Japanese officer pose for his picture as he handed food to a Chinese woman and child at their front door—while at the back door of the house the officer's soldiers were looting and plundering the home.

Discussing stories in yesterday's newspapers that the Chinese were demoralized and fleeing at Suchow by the thousands, Rev. Matti said:

"Japan will never win the war in China unless leaders turn the country over to them, and I can't believe they'll ever do that. After all this fighting, and billions poured into the war by Japan, what has she gained? A few key cities that barely touch the vast territory that is China. Japan has advanced less than 500 miles in a country twice the size of the United States.

"And Japanese troops in these cities are beset with new troubles, for Chinese guerrilla bands from the outside descend on them and cut off their supplies. China can and will lose ten men to Japan's one. All of Japan's victories in the cities will mean nothing so long as China remains united with one purpose."

He described the means that Japan is using to demoralize China; the wholesale spreading of narcotics among refugees and in cities that Japan holds; the wholesale ravishing of Chinese women with the thought of propagating a new generation of Chinese-Japanese children that will break down national morale.

On the other hand, Japan is heading for stormy weather at home, according to the Mansfield missionary. He talked to Japanese friends when they stopped there on the way home, and was told that Japan is seriously divided on the war. The people at home have learned only what the military wanted them to learn about the number of casualties, but returning wounded soldiers are bringing another story.

They are alarmed also at the mounting cost of the war in China and their increasing taxes. One of the most alarming phases of their war is the boycott of Japanese-made good in all parts of the world.

Rev. Matti said that as he and his wife and friends stood on the dock before leaving Japan they saw great cargoes being loaded onto Japanese ships, and the boxes of Japanese goods were labeled "Made In China." This, he believes, is a last desperate attempt of the Japanese to overcome the world boycott.

Rev. and Mrs. Matti hope to return to China in October, because the need of relief workers and the Christian influence is needed more than ever among the bewildered and war-driven Chinese. And he hopes to return to his class of Chinese lepers near Shanghai which has been a part of his work the past year.

lein talked for more than two hours last night and were to have met again today with two Sudeten German members of parliament.

Last night's talks between Hodza and Henlein were said to have been "encouraging" although of purely an informatory character.

Official quarters in Prague were frankly dubious about the chances of meeting any sweeping demands on troop withdrawals.

It was pointed out that there are elections next Sunday and June 12 and that withdrawing troops would be to invite a resumption of disorders such as almost led to war last week-end before the first set of municipal elections last Sunday.

Aside from the possible election disturbances there were other potential sources of disorder it was explained.

The funeral of the two Sudeten German victims of last Friday's frontier shooting is tomorrow, and the government feels troops should be on hand to prevent any possibility of untoward incidents.

Hitler Hurries Back to Berlin.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN — Renewing fears that Germany may not be satisfied with the status of the Czech-Nazi crisis, Chancellor Hitler was en route to Berlin from his Bavarian retreat today.

There were reports many German officers had been recalled to their barracks, and trains moving toward the German frontiers were reported still packed with troops.

In this connection, the Nazi newspaper Der Angriff, in a special dispatch from Prague, said it had learned the Czech mobilization will be maintained for a month more.

Hitler entrained for Berlin accompanied by several of his aids. It was reported he had summoned a special meeting of his advisors at the German chancellery tonight or Wednesday.

Despite assurances that Germany does not intend to use military force in solving the Sudeten-Czech autonomy controversy, an indirect denial of reports that Germany had flatly stated she would not march against Czechoslovakia was contained in authoritative comment issued this morning by the German press.

Cheno Plan Reduces Waistline 22 Inches

"These pictures prove I lost 98 pounds of fat. In 1931 I weighed 238 pounds, wore size 56 dresses with GUSSETS set in sleeves and hips. I had an operation. I tried starvation, difficult exercises and EVERY reducing formula I saw advertised—and yet I continued to pile on weight. Then I started the CHENO PLAN. Now I weigh 140 pounds, wear size 18 in misses' dresses. All my friends can hardly believe that such a MARVELOUS change could take place. My doctor says I'm 100% physically."—Suzanna Thompson.

No 1937 Gas Refrigerators Left Over

FREE • 300 GAS REFRIGERATORS

Win a Servel Electrolux in the P & G Soap Contest. For details, visit The Gas Company. Tune in "The Guiding Light," NBC Red Network, 2:45 P. M. daily.

Popular demand has completely wiped out the stock of 1937 Servel Electrolux gas refrigerators. This demand is reflected in the sale of 1938 models, too. This year's sales to date, have exceeded any previous year in our history. Families by the hundreds are turning to gas refrigeration because of the three big advantages it offers over other types — (1) permanent silence, (2) freezes without moving parts to wear out and (3) operates at lowest cost, averaging less than 2 cents a day.

Mrs. Anna Abel, 1549 E. 32nd Court, Lorain, Ohio, writes—

"Silence, low operating cost, no moving parts in freezing unit to need repair, efficiency and economy—all make a Servel Electrolux the outstanding refrigerator in my opinion. I would feel lost without one."

Still Going Great In '38

Why not let gas refrigeration bring lasting economy to your kitchen? The savings made possible by a Servel Electrolux will actually pay for it in a surprisingly short time. A convenient payment arrangement enables you to install a new 1938 model at once. Visit The Gas Company and find out the reasons why gas refrigeration is STILL GOING GREAT IN '38.

Mrs. Ralph Bennett, 150 County Line St., Westerville, Ohio, says—

"Our gas refrigerator has never cost us over 70 cents a month to operate. We especially like its silence, too. It keeps such an even temperature and gives us all the ice cubes and frozen desserts we want."

TEN DEAD AS TRANSPORT SHIP FALLS, BURNS NEAR CLEVELAND

COUNTY FILES $1,000,000 WPA PROGRAM

Doubles Size of Project as It Submits Application for Road, Bridge Jobs.

BOOSTED FROM $500,000

Project Would Provide Work for 500 Men for 2 Years, Engineer Says.

As its answer to reports that adequate work relief projects have not been provided here, Richland county today submitted its application for WPA funds for a $1,000,000 county-wide road and bridge project

Plans for the project, which would provide work for 500 men for two years, were taken to Columbus by County Engineer Howard C. Sword and Stanley Horn, deputy engineer.

Admits County Lax.

Admitting that the county may have been lax in planning work relief programs, Sword said, "We intend to do our part in the road department to give jobs to the needy and to reduce the relief burdens of the cities and townships."

The proposed $1,000,000 program was boosted from the original $500,000 figure, Sword pointed out, "because we believe the county needs it."

A draft for an additional $186,000 ditch program is being revised at the county engineer's office and will be ready to submit to state WPA officials next week, Walter E. Rusk, deputy engineer, said.

Ditch Program Approved.

Drawn up by Rusk, the ditch program already has been tentatively approved by state WPA officials, but was rejected at Washington because the county's contribution was described as "too small and plans incomplete." It would give work to nearly 500 men during the summer and fall months

Serving a double purpose in giving the county road system needed improvements and reducing the heavy direct relief burden, Sword said the larger project would include 100 miles of roads and 55 bridges in all of the county's 18 townships.

It calls for widening and resurfacing of roads, construction of

(By United Press)

SEATTLE, Wash.—The captain of a tiny American fishing boat, ignoring coast guard cutters that had his craft under surveillance, waited today for a supply of high powered rifles and ammunition before beginning a personal war on Japanese vessels in the Bering sea.

Capt. J. E. Shields of the fishing boat Sophie Christensen messaged the Pacific Coast Codfish company that he had grown weary of the "negligence" of the U. S. government in protecting American fishermen

"We have the God-given instinct to shoot straight," the radio message said. "Bering sea covered with Japanese fishing boats and nets north of Black Hills."

George Shields, secretary of the codfish company, said that the rifles and ammunition would be sent to Alaska.

TVA Reports 'Falsified', Morgan Says

Ousted Chairman Says 2 Directors Attempted to Mislead Public.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Arthur E. Morgan charged today that two Tennessee Valley authority directors—H. A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal—participated in falsifying a report on TVA negotiations for the purchase of utility properties owned by the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

A. E Morgan, ousted chairman of the TVA, testified before a ten-man congressional inquiry committee, elaborating on charges he had made previously against the other two directors.

After making a general charge that "collusion, conspiracy and mismanagement" had characterized the administration of TVA, the tall, gray-haired former chairman said Lilienthal made a "persistent attempt" to convince the public that Commonwealth and Southern "was arbitrarily refusing to sell its properties."

Ready to Sell Claim.

Through Wendell L. Willkie, its president, Commonwealth and Southern repeatedly offered to sell "any or all" of its properties, Morgan said.

He testified at length regarding negotiations with the company, which he said were carired on largely by Lilienthal. After a meeting of Willkie and the TVA board last January, the former chairman said, Lilienthal issued a news release which "gave a very false and inaccurate impression" of Willkie's position.

"The news release was an explicit falsification, the natural result of which was to deceive the public on a vital issue, to engender increased public bitterness toward the utilities and to substitute conflict and recrimination for open and above board dealing with the facts," Morgan said, adding:

"Both the other directors were deliberately and consciously parties to this falsification."

Morgan added that Lilienthal—who sat nearby in the committee

Hitler's Press Bombarding Czechs, Britain; Attacks Menace Peace Talks.

BULLETIN

EGER, Czechoslovakia — (U.P.) —Thousands of Sudeten Germans turned the funeral for two comrades, killed by Czech police, into a demonstration for Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and unity with the third Reich.

(By United Press)

Nazi anger against the Czechs today menaced efforts to settle Europe's quarrels at the council table instead of on the battlefield.

The most important development on the tense Central European front was decision by Germany to protest to the Prague government against alleged Czech attacks on Nazis and on the concentration of Czech troops in the German-populated Sudetan border area.

The German press, under control of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, bombarded Czechoslovakia and Great Britain with charges and complaints of provocation so bitter in tone that they endangered success of peace talks on the minority question. The whole Nazi attitude was stiffened despite Britain's plea for co-operation toward a peaceful solution.

From the Nazi side of the crisis of last week-end was being rebuilt and every chancellory of Europe again waited fearfully lest

Informed persons indicated the Lewis faction wanted recognition of its strength and a promise of no reprisals before giving its active support to the Pennsylvania nominees.

Council Sets Stage For Final Action on Gas Rates June 7

Without comment, city council last night held a second reading of a new gas rate ordinance and set the stage for final action and a vote on the measure at its regular session June 7.

The new rate ordinance which will continue the present rates ($1 for the first 500 feet and 50 cents a thousand for all over that) is intended to replace the contract with the Ohio Fuel Gas company that expired May 15. The term is for three years.

It was council's second special meeting in as many weeks for the consideration of a gas rate ordinance. Seven members heard the reading of the bill, the two absentees being James E. Crum, councilman-at-large, and Third Ward Councilman George C. Kyle.

If the measure is approved June 7, the ordinance will then be submitted to the gas company which will have 30 days to either accept or reject the rates. Should it decide on the latter course, it must appeal to the state utilities commission before the expiration of the period.

The present rate would remain in effect, however, during the appeal, while the company would be called upon to prove that the rate did not provide a sufficient return on its investment The city also would be required to show that the rate was justifiable.

Shy $5,582, Fund Drive To Continue

Leaders Decide to 'Carry On' Until Goal's Reached.

Just $5,582 stood between workers in Mansfield's Community fund and their goal of $53,950 today.

A total of $4,598 was reported at this noon's meeting in the First Methodist church, with the industrial division, headed by H W. Arlin crashing into the "glory spot" with contributions of $2,350, more than half of all that was reported today.

One Division Meets Goal.

That report put the industrial division over the top by $1,626. It was the first division—and the only one to date—to equal its goal

The campaign, it was decided, will go on until those tough five thousand dollars have been brought in The decision came on the recommendation of four speakers: Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church, Rev. Peter Young of the First Congregational church, Fred Chamberlain, division manager of the Ohio Public Service company, and P. H Ober, vice president of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce asserted it would be a "community tragedy" if the Fund campaign was permitted to fail.

Says City Has No Excuse.

"Things are not so bad as they are painted," he told the workers, "this is more a psychological depression than an economic one. Many people use the depression as a 'smoke screen' for not giving, but there is actually no good excuse for Mansfield not making its goal in this campaign."

He was supported in this statement by Sidney L. Palmer, Community Fund secretary who said he had received reports from five cities in Mansfield's class, announcing that they had reached their goals in Fund campaigns.

Of all divisions outside the industrial, the auto dealers was closest to its goal after today's reports had been received. It needs only $196 to "go over the top."

The public utilities division is close behind, needing only $217.

UTILITY FIGHTS

Ohio Fuel Balks at 48-Cent Gas For Springfield.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Ohio Fuel Gas company appealed today to the state utilities commission from an ordinance passed April 25 by the city of Springfield which fixes the natural gas rate at 48 cents per 1,000 for a period from June 1 to Sept. 1, 1938.

The company claimed the rate ordinance is unlawful, unfair, unreasonable and unjust.

PLANE CRACKS UP IN SIGHT OF LANDING FIELD

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND—(INS)—"Simultaneous power failure of both engines" was blamed today by W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines, for the crash of the line's luxury "Mainliner" near here last night, with a loss of ten lives.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—From the tangled and charred wreckage of a luxurious "Mainliner" and from conflicting reports of witnesses, government and company investigators attempted today to establish the cause of a United Airline plane's crash last night in a muddy, wooded ravine only eight miles from Cleveland airport.

All ten persons aboard the 21-passenger ship—seven men passengers and a crew of three, including a girl stewardess—were killed instantly when the plane plunged to earth, at almost exactly the time it was due from Newark at the landing field, 10:15 p. m.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were removed from the wreckage by police, firemen, and volunteer workers from Cleveland and villages near the scene of the crash. Prompt action by Independence village firemen saved much of the airmail aboard the plane.

William Robertson, department of commerce inspector here, and United Airlines officials headed by William Feiten, Cleveland district manager, launched an immediate investigation Two other government inspectors from Chicago flew here to join in the investigation, as did other air line officials, including Harold Crary, vice president.

One version of the accident was related by witnesses was that the plane burst into flames in the air. Another was that fire broke out only after it had crashed

The scene of the crash was a lonely gully, nearly two miles from any road, and eight miles due east of the airport, in Seven Hills, a village south of Cleveland. Wreckage was strewn for several hundred yards and one wing was torn off entirely and lay some distance from the main part of the plane, indicating it had been sheared off when the craft struck a clump of trees.

The entire area was soaked in recent rains and rescue workers toiled in ankle-deep mud Word of the crash spread rapidly, and by midnight traffic was tangled for miles around.

Fight Off Souvenir Hunters.

Early today the Cleveland police department sent extra crews of officers and blocked off the entire region. Some spectators attempted to tear off bits of the plane for souvenirs, and farmers complained that the tramping crowds were ruining their fields. One farmer threatened to take his shotgun to the crowds.

The list of dead, announced by United Airlines, was:

Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon, Chicago

Co-Pilot A. S. Merrifield, Los Angeles.

Stewardess Mildred A. Macek, 24, Milwaukee.

L. Arthur Doty, 42, Boston.

E. H. Verblen, Douglas Aircraft company test pilot, Santa Monica, Cal.

C. F. Lickel, New York.

Ralph D. Morrell, New York.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—Lighted only by flares, lanterns and automobile headlights, the narrow wooded gully in which the United Airlines Mainliner crashed last night with a loss of ten lives, presented a scene of utmost devastation early today.

Bits of metal, some still warm from the fire, others charred and melted, were strewn about a wide area, one wing lay several hundred feet from what was left of the fuselage. One motor had been thrown 25 feet up the side of the gully.

A grove of eight-inch trees through which the plane tore just before it crashed to the ground, was leveled, as if cut by a gigantic scythe. While the wreckage was still hot, and rescue workers were attempting to remove bodies, a crowd of curious and souvenir hunters converged on the scene and ripped bits of metal and other parts from the plane. Police, summoned from Cleveland and nearby suburban villages were swamped by the crowds until reinforcements arrived

The whole scene was ankle deep in mud, caused by recent rains.

'It Had to Come,' Says Wife Of Airliner's Veteran Pilot

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—"It was part of Monty's business. I suppose it had to come."

Thus, quietly pretty Mrs. Ethelrae Brandon, 28, accepted the news early today that her husband, Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon, had met a flaming death in an airliner near Cleveland last night

After hearing details of the crash, and that Brandon was found with his death-stiffened hands still clutching for the controls, Mrs. Brandon added with a touch of tragic pride:

"That was like him."

It was like him.

Brandon had been a veteran of the British Royal Flying Corps during the war and had a record of several million miles in the air. He had been with the United Airlines and its predecessor companies for 11 years with never a crack-up.

He was one of the few pilots with a "1,000,000-mile" record as a transport flier

He was 41 years old and had been married for five years. He is survived by a son, George, 2½.

SHELBY COUNCIL GIVES GAS BILL FIRST READING

Five-Year Ordinance Includes 'Sandbag,' Approximates Previous Contract.

SHELBY—City council gave a first reading last night to a new gas rate ordinance, which covers a five-year period with rates approximately the same as those in the expired contract.

The vote was 3 to 2, with Charles Swanger and John Chew opposing it. Those who favored the ordinance, which retains the controversial "sandbag" feature, which increases rates the last two years, were Kenneth Rothlisberger, C. E. Morris and Chester Bell.

The ordinance sets up rates as follows:

First Three Years.

First 500 cubic feet per month $1.00.

5.5 cents per hundred for next 4,500 cu. ft.

5 cents per hundred for all in excess.

Last Two Years.

First 500 cu. ft. $1.00.

6 cents per hundred for next 4,500 cu. ft.

5.5 cents per hundred for next 5,000.

5 cents per hundred for all in excess.

A motion to suspend the rules, made by Councilman Rothlisberger, to permit a second reading of the ordinance was abandoned when Councilman Swanger, leader in a fight for lower rates, charged "it would be one of the most unfair things ever done by a city council to pass a gas rate ordinance at one session without giving the public a chance to look over the ordinance."

No second was given to Rothlisberger's motion. It was Rothlisberger who made the motion for first reading passage of the ordinance. It was seconded by Morris.

Earlier Plan Rejected.

Another proposal—setting up a straight rate for three years—was rejected earlier, after Swanger had charged passage of it "would sell the people short."

Proposed by Bell and seconded by Chew, it set up a rate calling for

First 500 cu. ft. $1.00.

5.5 cents per hundred for next 9,500 cu. ft.

5 cents per hundred for all over 10,000.

While the 5,000-foot consumer would pay the same under that proposal as during the first two years of Rothlisberger's plan, larger users of gas would pay more.

Under each plan, the 5,000-foot user per month would pay $3.47, or about 69½ cents per thousand. Under the first plan, however, the 10,000-foot user would pay $6.22 or 62 cents per thousand. Under the second plan, the rate for the first three years would be about 59¾ cents per thousand. For the last two years, however, under the second plan, the 10,000-foot user would pay 64½ cents per thousand.

Chew Joins Swanger.

Swanger voted against both plans, while Chew, who voted in favor of the first one, joined Swanger in opposing the second proposal.

The meeting was a brief one, action on both proposals taking only 30 minutes. Before the session, councilmen conferred informally with William C. Mead, Mansfield, division manager of the company. Kenneth Gallant, Shelby manager was also present.

Company officials have indicated they would oppose any reduction in rates. Shelby is now paying 74 cents a thousand for its gas, the rate in effect the fifth year of a "sandbag" five-year ordinance which expired a few weeks ago. That rate remains in effect until a new ordinance is passed and accepted by the company.

Ousted Chairman Says Aids on Board Attempted to Mislead Public.

hearing room—sought for four and a half years to make it appear that the former TVA chairman "was conspiring with the utilities against the power responsibilities of the TVA."

"Mr. Lilienthal has felt free at any time to discuss matters with utility executives," Morgan declared. "Sometimes he has disclosed such meetings to the board. Sometimes he has not.

"Dr. H. A. Morgan has met with executives of the fertilizer industry without disclosing such meetings to the board.

Policy Changed.

"After a series of such meetings, the policy of the TVA was changed fundamentally toward meeting the wishes of the fertilizer industry. These changes were not disclosed to the board, and were denied by Dr. H. A. Morgan."

Committee members listened with sustained interest to Morgan's charges, operating under a previously-approved rule that he would not be interrupted.

It was the first time Morgan's differences with the other directors had been comprehensively outlined. Earlier, Morgan had refused to discuss them in detail with President Roosevelt. This refusal was followed by an order from the president ousting him from the chairmanship.

Morgan asserted that in the Commonwealth and Southern negotiations, Lilienthal, at his own request, was made the sole negotiator for the TVA.

Lilienthal, Morgan said, "outlined to Mr. Willkie as board policy that the TVA was committed to a position of unrestricted competition, (with private utilities) and announced decisions in line with this policy, when, in fact, no such policy ever had been adopted by the board."

"Mr. Lilienthal personally conducted the negotiations with Mr. Willkie of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation," the witness asserted. "From certain incidents which had occurred in these and similar negotiations, I came to doubt whether Mr. Lilienthal's reports to the board were fully representative of what took place during those negotiations.

"Therefore, when the time came for very important negotiations with the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, near the end of January, 1937, I insisted that before such negotiations should be concluded there should be a meeting between officials of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation and the entire TVA board, so that each TVA director could learn about the Commonwealth and Southern corporation's position directly from its representatives.

Says Meeting Called Off.

"To this request Mr Lilienthal quickly agreed It is my understanding that he first telegraphed Mr. Willkie asking for such a meeting, in this way providing a record in TVA files of having acceded to my request, and then went to Mr. Willkie personally and told him that such a meeting would not be necessary.

"Mr. Willkie, however, insisted on accepting the formal invitation to this meeting, and it was held in the TVA Knoxville offices on February 2, 1937."

At the meeting, Morgan said, he asked Willkie whether a letter written by Lilienthal regarding the negotiations correctly represented the position of the company.

Willkie "replied positively that it did not," the former TVA chairman continued.

Willkie told the TVA board at the conference, the witness continued, that "his company would consider the sale of all, or any reasonable separable part" of its properties.

"The Commonwealth and Southern corporation has repeatedly expressed its willingness to sell reasonable separate parts of its properties," the witness asserted. "Mr. Lilienthal has repeatedly given the public a contrary impression."

The lanky, 59-year-old Morgan, called to amplify his previous charges against the other two TVA directors, asserted the latter had not given an "honest administration of a great public trust."

Six Specific Charges.

In a packed senate committee room, Morgan made six specific charges against the other two directors, telling the inquiry committee they had been responsible for:

"1. Inaccurate misrepresentative reports to the president, the congress, and the public.

"2. Mismanagement of the power program.

"3. Lack of candor in statements to the congress and the public concerning the power program.

"4. Improper and misleading accounting, reporting and publicity in reference to the 'yardstick'.

"5. Collusion, conspiracy and mismanagement in administration.

"6. Subservience to political and other special interests."

Reading from a prepared statement, Morgan told the committee that "in the long run," the greatest danger to the TVA lies in improper administration."

"If the TVA is honestly and soundly managed," he continued, "and if the present abuses are corrected, no amount of opposition from without will defeat its purposes.

"On the contrary, the continuation of present policies and practices will inevitably discredit it and tend to defeat its purposes."

Morgan, who was called to elaborate on charges of "lack of integrity," by the other TVA directors told the committee he had not charged "that any director of the TVA has taken bribes or stolen money."

"Nor have I charged," he added, "that any director has profited financially through any transaction of the authority.

"There are other and more subtle forms of failure to meet a public trust which are no less a menace to good government.

"My charges relate to the execution of public duty and responsibility by the majority of the board. This has not been open candid, fair and straight-forward and hence it has not been honest administration of a great public trust."

First Statement.

Today's hearing brought the first comprehensive statement from Morgan regarding his differences with other TVA directors. Previously he had refused to detail his charges to President Roosevelt, saying he would testify only before a congressional committee.

It was then that Mr. Roosevelt dismissed Morgan as TVA chairman—a move which Morgan has indicated he might yet challenge in the courts.

Morgan told the committee today that the TVA "is an instrumentality actually and potentially of very great value to the people, and a contributor in a large way to the public welfare."

He said he had requested an investigation of the TVA "only because there seemed to be no other way to effect a correction of the conditions which are bringing about misdirection of its activities and are impairing its usefulness and its benefits to the people of the country."

"I shall not be a party to any effort to break down the authority or to limit its effectiveness," the former TVA chairman added, continuing:

"My whole purpose is to strengthen the authority by helping to bring about a better administration of its affairs."

BACKS POLICE CHIEF'S PLANS

Junior Association Endorses Drive for Additional Police.

The Mansfield Junior Association of Commerce last night put its approval on Police Chief Meade K. Bates' drive for more police, after a special association committee reported favorably on the plan.

At least three more members are needed on the police force, the committee pointed out, to handle the city's growing traffic problem and to relieve over-burdening of the present force.

Carl Horchler was named head of a committee to arrange for a picnic in June for junior association members.

Beginning in June, the organization will adopt its summer schedule of one meeting a month instead of two. Sessions will be held the last Tuesday night of the month.

DESCRIBES WAR HORROR IN CHINA

Missionary Tells Red Cross Officials of Need for Financial Aid.

Rev. Charles Matti, missionary to China, who returned to Mansfield on leave of absence Monday, showed pictures of war-desolated China last night at the special meeting of the Richland county Red Cross executive committee.

The meeting was held to discuss the national Red Cross appeal for aid for the starving women and children of China. Ohio Red Cross chapters are particularly interested in the appeal because of the fact that China sent one hundred thousand Chinese dollars ($30,000) to the Ohio river flood victims a year ago.

Rev. Matti told of the "wolf children" of China, who roam through the streets of destroyed towns and cities, turned scavengers because of hunger. He said that a civilian refugee can be fed for a month on a dollar of American money. More than a million children are homeless in the Shanghai area alone, he said, and there is definite danger that 60,000,000 persons will have starved to death by September if the rest of the world doesn't send aid.

Roy R. Spetka, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter, pointed out that the American Red Cross is playing a strictly humanitarian role in the war zones, relief going to civilian refugees only.

50 ATTENDING POLICE SCHOOL

4-Day Session On Fingerprinting Underway At City Hall.

Nearly 50 police officers from Mansfield and surrounding towns convened here today to attend the second session of a four-day fingerprint course which opened yesterday in the municipal court rooms in the city building.

The short course in fingerprinting, held in connection with the Mansfield police training course in scientific crime detection, is being conducted by Special Agent L. V. Boardman of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates who was instrumental in bringing Boardman here to conduct the course said that lectures are being given at afternoon and evening sessions.

THREATEN VETO IN FIGHT OVER RECOVERY BILL

Administration Forces Seek to Stall Attempt to Earmark Relief Spending.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Administration forces threatened a presidential veto today to head off the attempt of an anti-New Deal senate coalition to earmark every dollar in the $3,247,025,000 recovery bill.

The earmarking drive, conducted under cover until the last minute, came into the open when Sens. Royal S. Copeland (D., N. Y.) and Josiah W. Bailey (D., N. C.) introduced amendments to direct expenditure of the $865,000,000 budgeted for the Public Works administration.

Sen. Alva B. Adams (D., Col.), floor manager of the bill said that it might become a log-rolling bill rather than one for relief and recovery if the amendment is adopted.

"I am afraid that this measure may become so loaded with amendments that President Roosevelt may not be able to sign it," he said.

Strategy Shifted.

Meanwhile, administration strategy switched overnight on another amendment, designed to prevent use of PWA funds for municipal power plants that would be in competition with existing private utilities.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley (D., Ky.) said that he would seek to strike the amendment from the bill. Unless that move fails he will not offer his compromise plan to permit the PWA to make grants and loans for power projects if the municipality involved has made a "fair offer" to buy the private utility and has been refused.

Barkley told of the change in plans after Sen. George W. Norris (Ind., Neb.) had opposed his compromise and predicted that the senate would throw out the anti-competition amendment on a roll call vote. Most senate leaders agreed with Norris privately.

The earmarking amendments took two forms. Bailey's would require that first allocations from the $865,000,000 PWA fund go to projects—except for power—approved up to April 12, 1938, but for which no money has been provided.

PWA officials said that 2,785 approved projects are now pending, requiring grants of $442,000,000 and loans of $123,500,000—a total of almost $75,000,000 to come out of the new spending-lending funds.

PAY DIVIDEND

SHELBY—The board of directors of the Shelby Salesbook company at a recent meeting declared a dividend of 75 cents per share on common stock and one and three-quarter per cent on preferred stock, payable June 30 to stockholders of record June 18, R. RAIN, WARMER

Mercury Rise Forecast After Near Freezing Temperature.

A threat of more rain tonight was predicted by forecasters after Mansfielders yesterday had enjoyed a lull from the rains that have swept Richland county for the past 10 days.

However, warmer weather was forecast for tomorrow. The mercury which last night skidded to within five degrees of freezing, at noon today had climbed 27 degrees to 64. The low last night was 37 degrees for an average temperature for the past 24 hours of 50 degrees.

ASKS COURT TO OK FUND SHIFT

City Files Formal Application, Seeks Transfer of $50,000 to Meet Relief Crisis.

Faced with a relief crisis, the city of Mansfield today asked Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to authorize the transfer of $50,000 from the city's special assessment bond retirement fund to an emergency relief fund.

The petition for the transfer was filed by City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., and shows a balance in the special assessment bond fund of $58,784. Outstanding obligations against the fund are listed at $24,700, but city officials contend that the entire debt can be retired from current charges, leaving the balance as a surplus.

The court can act on the city's request in 15 days, provided the filing is advertised as required, Judge Huston said.

The state legislature, in special session to consider a relief program, studied a bill today which would afford a ray of hope for Mansfield in the event the fund transfer is refused.

The bill would authorize the issuance of bonds up to $68,964 in the city in anticipation of delinquent tax collections. The city owes more than $20,000 in relief bills, accumulated since March 16th.

Known as the Lawrence senate bill, the measure would help 95 per cent of the state's sub-divisions to finance their relief load, it was said. Cleveland alone has a bond leeway of $5,733,449 above its borrowing limitation on delinquent taxes. Ashland could borrow up to $16,140.

AUDITOR SCORES

Ferguson Wins In Test of Power To Hold Up Tax Funds.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Ohio supreme court upheld State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today in his right to compel counties to share the cost of maintaining their insane residents in detention hospitals.

The court denied the request of the Cuyahoga county commissioners for an order which would have required the auditor to release to them $257,270 in sales tax funds being withheld to cover hospital costs.

RITES SET FOR DR. CLOWES, 93

Rev. W. W. Ralph to Conduct Services for Retired Shiloh Physician Tuesday.

SHELBY—Funeral services for Dr. John Q. A. Clowes, 93, retired physician, who died Tuesday at his home on West Main street following an illness of a month, will be held at the Dick and Dye funeral home at 3 p. m. Thursday with Rev. W. W. Ralph of the First Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in the Oakland cemetery.

Dr. Clowes was born in Chesswick, Pa., May 18, 1845. Shortly after his graduation from medical college at Philadelphia he moved to Rome, O., where he started practice.

Later moving to Shiloh, Dr. Clowes conducted a practice in that community for over a quarter of a century. He retired in 1901 and came to Shelby to make his home.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Long and Miss Stella Clowes of Shelby, and a grandson. His wife, Mary, and one daughter, Rose, preceded him in death.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

FROM my home I caught the fragrance of a very familiar flowering forest tree. It seemed so early at first I doubted if it were possible, but as I walked along a rough stony hill, I saw several locust trees out in full bloom.

Those pure white petals, changing to a darker shade well down the throat, look like plumes waving among the soft, green leaves. On closer observation, I see that the individual flowers are shaped much like those of the pea or bean and not the even petaled form of other common plants.

As I saw these trees waving there in the sweet May wind, fragrant bowers of white and green, I thrilled at their beauty, and the place about seemed much more than common earth. The bees, too, shared my delight and filled the air with their satisfied buzzing.

These locust trees are the most unusual of all our common native trees. They are no robbers of the soil, but stand four-square upon it, and yield a wealth of nitrogen, brought from the air and stored in nodules on its million roots. (Nitrogen is one of the three important elements in all commercial fertilizer.)

If this tree grows upon a lawn, the grass all about it has a heavier growth and a darker green color. It is the only tree in this country that is a member of the legume family. In late summer long gray pods hang from its branches, and still later in autumn I have seen them split open and spill out four pea-like, crab-colored beans. Sometimes the strong November winds will blow them far afield, and if the land remains uncultivated soon a fine grove of locust trees will spring up to beautify the landscape.

Today's woodlot was stripped and hillsides could not be seen as I cast beans of seeds of other woodland trees so that those who follow us might enjoy what our generation has so ruthlessly destroyed.

BORROWS CASH TO PAY UP OLD RELIEF BILLS

County Clears Slate to March 16, When Job of Caring for Needy Was Given City.

With funds borrowed from three banks, plus a $2,266 allocation of state beer and malt taxes, Richland county today had paid in full its relief bills, some of which were nearly three months old. The bills totaled $14,766.

Acting on the recommendation of Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott, county commissioners borrowed $12,500 on six-month notes at 3 per cent interest to pay the relief bills. The loans will be retired out of anticipated tax collections in the general fund, commissioners said.

The county's bills represented relief costs up to outstanding as of March 16 when the relief load was turned over to the city of Mansfield and other sub-divisions in a reorganization of the relief set-up.

City Now Owes $20,000.

Mansfield, which has been forced to handle its own relief burden since March 16, already owes bills totaling nearly $20,000 and is attempting to obtain a $50,000 transfer from the sinking fund for relief purposes.

Under the borrowing plan, the county gave notes for $4,500 each to the Richland Trust company and the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, Mansfield, and for $3,500 to the First National bank, Shelby.

Their own problem solved, at least temporarily, commissioners yesterday allocated the May distribution of state relief funds to county sub-divisions on the basis of their immediate needs.

Mansfield Gets Most.

Mansfield, with about two-thirds of the relief load, received $3,674 of the $5,529 allocation. Madison township was next, receiving $1,019.

Other distributions included:

Shelby, $475; Worthington township, $125; Cass township, $50; Plymouth township, $50; Jefferson township, $50; Troy township, $50, and Bloominggrove township, $35.

The 11 remaining townships which received no state funds must pay their own relief bills. Only Perry township of the 18 in the county had no relief cases last month.

Hobby Show Ends Tonight, Awards To Go to Winners

Mansfield's first annual hobby and handicraft exhibit, in progress at the Y. M. C. A. for the past four days, will come to a close tonight.

More than 250 persons visited the exhibit last night, and more than 800 have seen the exhibit since it opened Sunday afternoon, according to "Y" officials. The exhibit will remain open until 9 p. m.

Shown in the exhibit are more than 200 hobbies and collections entered by adults and school children. Certificates will be awarded to all first, second and third winners in each of the 13 different divisions to schools having the most entries, and to the best general collection.

The exhibit was staged by the Y. M. C. A. and the Junior Association of Commerce. The committee in charge of the show was made up of Robert Walters, chairman, Donald D. Cram, Glen Mochel, John Martin, Robert Kirkpatrick and Richard Birnham.

MASSILLON—(INS)—Two WPA workers from East Greenville, John Davis, 27, and Sam Lander, 44, were instantly killed, and a third, Roy Ammon, 34, was seriously injured today when their car was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train at a grade crossing five miles from here.

The men were on their way to work when the accident occurred. Ammon was brought to Massillon City hospital.

BOOSTS O. S. R. SEWER RENTAL

New Contract Forwarded to State, Calls for 400 Per Cent Increase.

A new sewer rental contract for the Mansfield reformatory, calling for an increase of more than 400 per cent over the rates that expired two months ago, had been forwarded today to the state welfare department for approval.

Service-Safety Director Tracy C Styert said the contract, a one-year agreement, had been agreed upon following negotiations with the board at Columbus two weeks ago. The new contract will replace a 10-year agreement entered into in 1928, which expired early in March.

He explained that the new contract calls for a rate based on the sewer rental ordinance that went into effect last year. The rate under this plan is determined by the quantity of water used.

Under the terms of the old contract, the institution paid a sewer rental based on the monthly population which amounted to approximately $900 per year.

The new contract, if accepted by the state welfare department, will boost the sewer department revenues from the institution to $4,000 annually, Styert pointed out.

Provisions in the contract also call for the institution to install and maintain a manhole equipped with a screen on reformatory property to keep foreign materials from entering the city's sewer system. Styert said that the installation already had been made and that reformatory officials had agreed to make a daily inspection on the manhole which will reduce sewer maintenance costs.

ICKES HAPPY

DUBLIN — (INS) — Harold L. Ickes, 64-year-old American secretary of the Interior, and his 25-year-old bride, the former Jane Dahlman, planned to leave their Cork hotel tonight for London, then go to Paris for a few days before proceeding to the United States.

Ickes and his titian-haired wife were married here yesterday in a surprise ceremony that culminated a romance which had been completely shrouded in secrecy until the moment the wedding took place.

Stephen Shuttack, a member of the American legation staff, who attended the bride and bridegroom at the wedding revealed that Secretary Ickes appeared supremely happy during the ceremony and looked like a man of 40.

ASK RESURFACING

A petition was being circulated among property owners on West Augustine avenue today asking city council to approve the resurfacing of the street from South Main street to the South Mulberry street viaduct.

Climaxing a secret trip abroad, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes took the American press completely by surprise when he and Miss Jane Dahlman of Milwaukee (above) were married at a church in Dublin, Ireland, yesterday. Ickes is 64, his pretty bride 25. The secretary's first wife was killed in an auto accident in 1935. The new Mrs. Ickes, a Smith college graduate, had been visiting with her uncle, John Cudahy, U. S. minister to Ireland. She is a sister of Ickes' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes.

KIDNAPERS FREE WOMAN VICTIM

Release Columbus Housewife After Stealing $984 From Mate.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Mrs. Elizabeth Filichia was safe at her home today after being kidnaped by a gunman who robbed her husband, Frank, of $984.

Filichia reported to sheriff's deputies that he had the money to buy a new automobile. He said he drove his wife to a Lockbourne road club to meet a friend and as they stopped a tall, heavy set man with red curly hair robbed him at the point of a gun.

Forcing him from the car, Filichia said, the gunman compelled Mrs. Filichia to drive several miles to Big Walnut Creek where she was released.

BOARD HEARS OF WAYS TO CUT ELECTION COSTS

Recommendations Submitted at State Clinic to Be Turned Over to Legislature.

Centralized printing of ballots and election supplies for the entire state and a more rigid check of sick and absent voters' ballots had been proposed today as the result of two-day election clinic conducted at Columbus by Secretary of State William J. Kennedy.

Recommendations submitted at the sessions, which are attended by Richland county election officials, will be studied by a statewide resolutions committee and submitted to the state legislature in two weeks, according to George C. Balliet, chairman of the county election board.

Called to Columbus to consider economy measures in the holding of elections, county election board members and clerks were told by Kennedy that the state could save $500,000 a year by eliminating precincts, reducing staffs and forcing competition in bids for election supplies.

County Vote 4th Highest.

The clinic was of special interest in Richland county since the secretary of state produced figures showing the cost per vote for elections here last year at $1.17, fourth highest of the state's 88 counties.

Balliet, however, took exception to Kennedy's figures for Richland county, and showed figures listing the county's cost at 80.8 cents per vote in 1937.

"I don't know how the secretary of state arrived at his figure, because we have records showing total expenses in 1937 of $19,480, while 24,089 votes were cast," Balliet said.

He blamed the high cost on the state law which requires the county election boards to order supplies for the total potential vote at each election, resulting in a huge loss at primaries when the vote is unusually light.

15 SCHOOLBOY PATROLMEN GIVEN MERIT BADGES AT ANNUAL PICNIC

Fifteen youths serving in the schoolboy patrol during the past year were awarded merit badges for outstanding service at the annual patrol picnic and outing yesterday afternoon.

The outing was held at South park with nearly 200 patrol boys from Mansfield, Shelby and all township schools attending. The program arranged by Floyd Dent, Boy Scout executive, besides field events included a ball game between Shelby and John Simpson junior high school patrol boys which Shelby won.

Selected for merit awards by the vote of the students in the various schools which they serve as patrol members were: Carl Damron, Carpenter school; Andy Lanraux, Western avenue; Harold Reese, Prospect; Fred Kline, Bowman street; Ralph Simpson, Bushnell; George Reichert, West Fifth street; Donald McLaughlin, Hedges junior high; George Grieble, Hedges elementary; Joseph Rabojcfics, Newman street; Ned Brunk, Brinkerhoff; Richard Wilson, Country Day; Bronko Petrovic, John Simpson junior high; Donald Kline, Shelby; Richard Lenhart, Woodville; Jack Spreidtbaugh, Lincoln Heights.

The awards were presented by Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert who attended the picnic as a guest along with Carl Stander, president of the Richland County Automobile club. Frank Beverstock and Jack Berger, secretaries of the auto club and school principals.

The outing is an annual affair staged by the auto club which sponsors the schoolboy patrol in Richland county.

Easy furnace for women folks to fire
$2 A WEEK Will Buy A Williamson Tripl-ife
"The Williamson Heater Company:
Two years ago my father had one old furnace taken out and a new Williamson put in. Last May he passed away and there are no other men in the house. Our house is always warm and I only put in coal a couple of times a day and there are practically no ashes. It takes less coal than our old one did. It sure is an easy furnace for women folks to fire."

ELECTRIC RANGES
in KITCHEN COOLNESS all summer long
Kitchen coolness depends a lot upon the type of cooking equipment you use. A Westinghouse Range is built to lock in heat. Thick insulation all around the oven does the trick. The outside stays so cool you can actually rest your hand on the top, even while baking. And there's no circulation of hot air through the oven into the kitchen. Heat retaining construction in the surface units likewise helps concentrate heat where it belongs. You can get coolness plus cleanliness, economy of operation, ease of use and time saving, and better cooking results with a Westinghouse Range. Find out!

WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1938.

Since Providence (R. I.) has gone 100 days without a traffic accident there may be something to names after all.

There's no justification for the idea that, if there's no other political job in sight, he can at least be sent to congress.

Why Cut Railroad Wages?

PROPOSAL of the railroads to make a 15-per cent wage cut at this time seems ill-advised, in that it would not only serve to reduce purchasing power of a large group of workers but would also fall short of providing any real solution of problems that confront railroad operations in the United States.

The actual dilemma of present-day railroads comes from dwindling business due to new forms of competition in both passenger and freight transportation, which, coupled with over-capitalization, earlier extravagances in station construction, exorbitant salaries to some officials and relatively high wage scales extending throughout the organization, have resulted in requirement for expenditures far in excess of revenues that can be reasonably anticipated now, or in the future.

Years ago, under the stimulus of promotional schemes, railroad lines were built, in many instances, as competitors of other lines serving the same general territory. The time has passed when these competing lines can be profitably operated and it merely becomes a matter of how rapidly this duplication of service can be abandoned without too great a loss to security holders and with the least possible hardship on present employes of non-essential railroads.

Given reasonable time, this can be worked out. Only last week the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City company, operating 249 miles of track, asked official permission to discontinue all service. Recently a prominent railroad executive said that 5,000 more miles of track ought to be abandoned.

It would seem, therefore that while the future does not promise opportunities for highly remunerative railroad employment that have existed in the past, little would be gained by an immediate wage reduction—unless such reduction is agreed to by employes, in the hope of staving off the inevitable a little while longer.

The plight of the railroads is entirely too deep-rooted to be remedied by any such treatment as reduction of employes' wages.

Attitude of the Roosevelt administration toward business is remindful of the young surgeon's remark following an operation—"The operation was a complete success, except that the patient died."

How Memphis Does It.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. deserves the nation's congratulations. It has been declared winner in the National Safety Council's sixth annual traffic safety contest. Five other cities also won prizes in their population groups: Milwaukee; Hartford; Beaumont, Tex.; Everett, Wash.; and Des Plaines, Ill. The grand prize for states went to Massachusetts.

Memphis won the major prize for cities by carrying out a comprehensive, continuous safety program. There was outstanding activity in the field of traffic enforcement and the commissioner of public safety offers $100 to anyone who can prove that a traffic ticket was "fixed." Many street improvements were made, in order to correct danger points. Miles of pavement were clearly marked, in order to keep vehicles in their proper lanes. A city law requires each motor vehicle in Memphis to be inspected three times a year.

Equally important, the city pursues steady, effective educational work, to acquaint local residents with traffic dangers and how to eliminate them. The result of all this was a substantial reduction in the city's accident, death and injury rates.

Sad experience has proven that sporadic safety drives, no matter how enthusiastic or sincere their sponsors, are next to worthless.

Former Governor Alf Landon favors "fair compensation" for preachers—but surely not time and a half for overtime on sermons.

Money Dwindles.

LORD BEAVERBROOK, the English newspaper magnate, who owns the biggest daily in the world, seems optimistic about Britain paying its war debt of $5,300,000,000 to the United States. Obviously it cannot pay just now, he explains, with its national debt as big as ours and an imperative rearmament plan under way that is being financed mainly from current income. But he assures us that a day will come when the debt will be wiped out "on terms satisfactory to American taxpayers."

There is something in the very magnitude of these modern public debts that dulls minds and consciences and would make payment on the old basis seem unimportant. Shall we ever regain our lost sense of the value of dollars?

Now that the Dionnes are to be together under one roof, the quintuplets should be able to support their parents in the way in which they are unaccustomed.

Saving Niagara Falls.

CANADIAN officials are seeking co-operation of the United States in remedial works to prevent further serious erosion at Niagara Falls. There have been a number of landslides in recent years which have greatly altered the contour and appearance of the Falls. More are expected.

Some erosion is inevitable, but some may be preventable. The scenic values of Niagara Falls are worth preserving. In 1931 effort was made to have Canada and the United States work together on this task, but our senate foreign relations committee defeated the proposal.

It would be a great mistake to leave undone anything which would protect the beauty and grandeur of Niagara Falls. If engineers know what to do, the two governments should speed its accomplishment.

When ignorance and stubbornness are combined the "melting pot" has a big job on its hands.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

IF, AS INDICATED, the Roosevelt administration resumes silver purchases from Mexico, it may head off a Fascist state at the very border of the United States.

Mexico depends on oil and silver for her ready cash. Without ready cash, the Cardenas regime, the most democratic in Latin America, might fall before a Fascist dictatorship. The present uprising of General Cedillo may not yet be the real test. General unrest might come not from such an isolated political revolt as from general economic pressure.

Mexico is having difficulty selling its oil, since it expropriated properties of foreign oil companies for refusing to obey a court labor decree. (The oil, incidentally, always has belonged to the nation; it could only give concessions for the production of it to private corportions.) Now the large corporations have tried to block the sale of Mexican oil.

On the other hand, British oil companies have invested millions for years developing Mexican oil properties and markets, only to have their properties expropriated at the moment they began to show a profit.

A memorandum by the Institute summarizes Mr. Hutton's conclusions in this manner: Although Mexican foreign policy has favored Soviet Russia, China, Ethiopia and the Spanish republic, this carries no guarantee that Mexico is headed for a Socialist state in the Soviet sense, nor does it mean that Mexico will take a stand with other powers in a combined democratic stand against Fascist-minded aggressors or politicians. Fear of Fascist penetration is balanced against suspicion of democratic capitalistic enterprises in Mexico. Mr. Hutton observes, moreover, that domestic discontents are steadily pushing Mexico into the arena of the world's great powers.

The Cardenas regime, according to Mr. Hutton, has sought to sit on the fence between an out-and-out proletarian dictatorship and the familiar system of bourgeois government in the hands of large landowners, big business and their tools in the armed forces and civil service. Internally, he indicates, Mexico has not yet solved the political problems caused by the disintegration of domestic politics 30 years ago under the dictatorship of Porfirio Diaz. Application by Cardenas of parts of the Six-Year Plan, aimed at improving the well-being of the Indian masses making up more than half of the population, has subordinated the Catholic church to the state and forced redistribution of foreign and bourgeois-owned haciendas, for which no compensation has been paid, to small village communities.

As a result of present policies of agrarian reform and confiscation of foreign enterprises, the author shows that "the Cardenas regime is assailed by economic problems due to overacceleration of necessary reforms, often in questionable directions."

The great powers of the world all are bound, Mr. Hutton observes, to adopt strong attitudes towards the problems raised by Mexican acts. Forced by events, Anglo-American interests have been cemented in Mexico, and their national policy is based on a negative process of reacting to positive Mexican actions.

Mr. Hutton concludes that what is now afoot and may develop in Mexico may destroy the entire fabric of Mexican-United States relations and force a recasting of the Monroe Doctrine. Whether Old World powers and Japan, their interests and political systems clash in and around Mexico, depends, however, on Mexico itself, and on its judicious diplomacy.

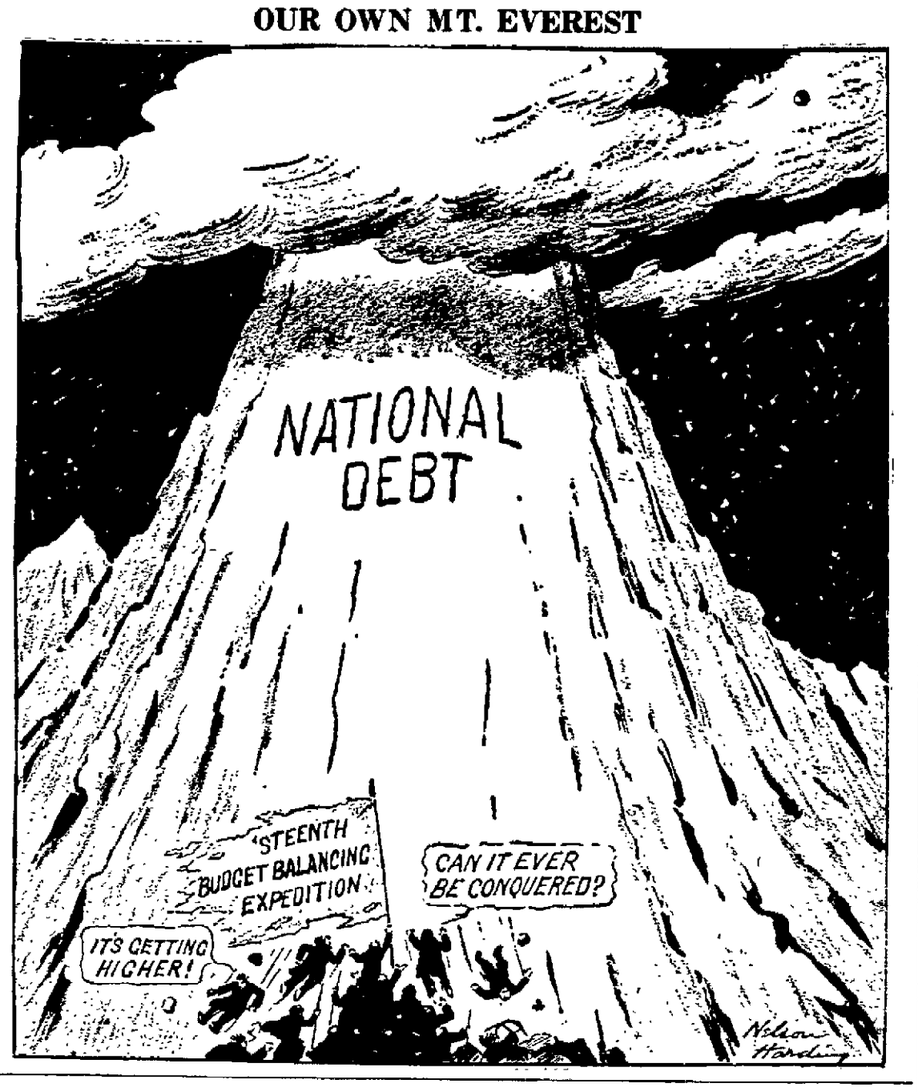
OUR OWN MT. EVEREST



Results Seen as New Deal Loss

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—It is a bit difficult to understand what David L. Lawrence's reasoning was when, as Democratic state chairman in Pennsylvania, he telegraphed to the White House that the recent nominating primaries in the Keystone commonwealth amounted to "another victory for Roosevelt-ism."

In the first place, voting by the Republicans for their candidates was considerably heavier than the Democrats' voting for theirs, which suggests the possibility that the state may swing back into the G. O. P. column in November.

True, in these mixed-up times there are some quite New Dealerish Republicans. But the Republican who won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Pennsylvania is not one of them; he is Arthur H. James, a conservative. Gifford Pinchot, the New Dealerish Republican gubernatorial aspirant, was beaten overwhelmingly.

And for the Republican senatorial renomination James J. Davis was an easy winner. Despite his trades union affiliations no one ever accused "Puddler Jim" of being a New Dealer.

It isn't such bad betting that James and Davis will be victorious next autumn, either. That would not be much of a New Deal triumph.

EARLE A NEW DEALER

We know that Postmaster General James A. Farley, undoubtedly speaking for the administration, endorsed retiring Governor George H. Earle for the senate, and he was nominated handily on the Democratic ticket.

However, it is of record that Earle roughly repudiated Farley's indorsement.

Earle, at that, has been a good New Dealer. No doubt he would have appreciated Farley's "o. k." but for the fact that Farley also "o. k.'ed" the Democratic candidacy of Thomas Kennedy for the governorship.

Now, Earle has been plugging for Charles A. Jones and he resented the Farley indorsement of Kennedy so much that he refused it in his own behalf.

Farley, then, got what he wanted as to Earle, but was licked as to Kennedy. And, by indorsing Earle, he seems to have driven the latter "off the reservation"—at least temporarily. The two "made up" later. It is queer to see the beneficiary of an indorsement enraged by it, but that is one of the peculiarities of Pennsylvania politics.

HOW IT WORKED

Farley probably thought he could satisfy one each of the rival Democratic groups in Pennsylvania, thus bringing them together and consolidating the Keystone Democratic party.

Of course Jones is sore.

And Kennedy is defeated.

BUNGLING?

So the New Deal stands, in Pennsylvania:

1. To lose to the Republicans, or
2. To elect a hostile Democratic senator and governor.

Earle may be won back (he at least was administratively indorsed). But Jones, if elected, scarcely can be reconciled.

The best one can say is that it was a bungling job of Farley's.

LABOR SPLIT

The John L. Lewis organization has claims on the administration for Farley's support of the CIO's candidate, Kennedy—but he was licked in his own party's primary.

The result is too jumbled to draw many conclusions from.

But it cannot be interpreted as a New Deal victory, such as the New Dealers regarded Senator Pepper's renomination triumph in Florida.

Incidentally it indicates that the A. F. of L. and the CIO have got to get together to accomplish anything for labor.

Proper Ways To Display Flag Explained In National Code

APPROACH of Memorial day (May 30) and Flag day (June 14) makes this an appropriate time to re-print the accepted rules governing proper use and display of the flag of the United States of America.

The flag code was adopted at the National Flag Conference held in Washington, D. C. in 1923, by delegates from the principal national patriotic, fraternal, educational and civic organizations of the country.

The code is intended to set forth the proper manner of displaying the flag on all occasions and also sets forth cautions against improper or disrespectful uses of the flag.

Included in the information given as to proper display of the flag are the following:

1—The Flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be displayed on national and state holidays, and historic and special occasions. The Flag should always be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

2—When the Flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of building, the union of the Flag should go clear to the peak of the staff unless the Flag is at half-staff. (When the Flag is suspended over a sidewalk from a rope, extending from a house to a pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the Flag should be hoisted out from the building towards the pole, union first.)

3—When the Flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the Flag's own right, i. e., to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer on the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings of blue, white and red are desired, bunting should be used, but never the Flag.

4—When the Flag is displayed over the middle of the street, as between buildings, the Flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

5—When used on a speaker's platform, the Flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. If flown from a staff it should be in the position of honor, at the speaker's right. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk, or to drape over the front of the platform.

6—When used in connection with the unveiling of a statue or monument, the Flag should form a distinctive feature during the ceremony, but the Flag itself should never be used as the covering for the statue.

7—When the Flag is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the National colors, but should be destroped as a whole, privately, preferably by burning or by some other method in harmony with the reverence and respect we owe to the emblem representing our country.

PROPER USE OF BUNTING

Bunting of blue, white and red should be used for covering a speaker's desk, draping over the front of a platform and for decoration in general. Bunting should be arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle and the red below.

CAUTIONS

1. Do not permit disrespect to be shown to the Flag of the United States of America.

2. Do not dip the Flag of the United States of America to any person or any thing. The regimental color, State flag, organization or institutional flag will render this honor.

3. Do not display the Flag with the union down except as a signal of distress.

4. Do not place any other flag or pennant above or, if on the same level, to the right of the Flag of the United States of America.

5. Do not let the Flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.

6. Do not place any object or emblem of any kind on or above the Flag of the United States of America.

8. Do not fasten the Flag in such manner as will permit it to be easily torn.

9. Do not drape the Flag over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, or of a railroad train or boat. When the Flag is displayed on a motor car, the staff should be affixed firmly to the chassis, or clamped to the radiator cap.

11. Do not use the Flag as a covering for a ceiling.

12. Do not carry the Flag flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.

13. Do not use the Flag as a portion of a costume or of an athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.

14. Do not put lettering of any kind upon the Flag.

15. Do not use the Flag in any form of advertising nor fasten an advertising sign to a pole from which the Flag is flying.

16 Do not display, use or store the Flag in such a manner as will permit it to be easily soiled or damaged.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Putting Your Foot In It."

It started as "The bishop has put his foot in it."

We have substituted pronouns and such for the bishop; but, old-style or new-style, the significance has always been botching or spoiling an otherwise satisfactory situation, committing a blunder.

The original allusion grew out of the old English custom of housewives and cooks, when the bishop passed along the road, to desert their kitchens and leave their soup, milk or other food to burn, while they ran after the churchman, presumably to ask him for a blessing.

And of the quondam comestibles that had been ruined, it would then be said that "The bishop hath put his foot in the pot!"

The phrasing is sixteenth century literary usage and it may have been in circulation earlier.

Should We See Life As Is?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

FOR a change, I'm letting you chew over some of your questions this week . . . questions which appear so regularly that they plainly voice a national problem. For instance—

HOW ABOUT VIEWING LIFE AS IS?

These "realistic" stories . . . these stark surveys showing the seamy side of things . . . these grimly accurate movies and legitimate shows, such as "DEAD END" or "OF MICE AND MEN."

Critics and social service workers both acclaim such products . . . say they are ART in its most courageous form . . . and also a necessary part of our social education.

BUT WHAT'S YOUR VOTE?

Do you relish this realism? Do you like to see it staring at you from the news reel . . . the fiction magazine . . . the editorial page . . . the screen or stage?

RUTH GORDON, aged 20, of Bangor, Maine, D-O-E-S-N'-T . . . and millions—judging by their letters—agree with her emphatically.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"I felt terribly discouraged as I left the theater last night—not because the show wasn't good, but because of what I saw in the news reel.

"You know the sort of scenes. European troops on parade . . . men and young boys marching, women and children standing by eagerly and joyfully watching them as they passed in review. A vivid picture of the destruction and slaughter in Spain and China—the horror and despair on the faces of men, women and children alike.

"I wanted to close my eyes and not look at the screen. But I couldn't do that—it would be cowardly. It was my duty, moreover, to learn what was going on in our modern civilized world.

"But why are such unpleasant scenes shown? And what will be the result? Will such realistic scenes make war seem inevitable and frighten people correspondingly? Or will they make them feel the glamour and excitement—and breed an eagerness for war?

"Undoubtedly it is the condition of the country that makes the films full of horrors. And, if this is true, we Young Americans should rebel against such conditions immediately. But how I wish we could visit theaters without being filled with dread and horror! Does it all really serve a useful end? Or is it inspired by human greed?"

Bangor, Maine.

This whole subject of realism—it's a puzzling one. Shattered bleeding men . . . wailing women with starving babies tugging at their empty breast. Ghastly pictures of our own "share croppers," lolling litters of worm-eaten flesh and bone . . . Hideous exposes of "dead end" children, vicious as the rats among which they are spawned and with which they snarl over garbage crusts . . .

Do I like to see it . . . read it . . . hear about it?

OF COURSE I DON'T! WHAT SANE PERSON WOULD? BUT HOW CAN I TURN AWAY AND FORGET IT . . . YET FACE MY OWN SOUL?

For horror for horror's sake, I have only contempt. The writer or artist who portrays despair and degeneracy for "box office" or "best seller" profit alone is the cheapest of all charlatans. Real genius needs no such synthetic goose-pimples to produce good work. But I truly believe that those who have the courage to face and pass on THE TRUTHS are the greatest public servants of the day. Depressing? They certainly are . . .

BUT, IF THIS IS THE TRUTH, WE HAVE NO RIGHT TO EVADE IT.

For each of us, to his own degree, is responsible for that Truth . . . must answer to God for those shattered men, those wailing women, those starving babes. By our selfishness, our ignorance, our greed or our indifference, we have become responsible. And you have no more right to turn away from the horror in Spain than from the pestilence which may strike your own apartment.

ARE YOU "YOUR BROTHER'S KEEPER"? YOU ARE! AND IT'S UP TO YOU TO SEE HOW HE IS KEPT—EVEN IF IT GIVES YOU A SLEEPLESS NIGHT!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Back in the dry era, when New York (through no fault of its own) was running a bad second to Chicago in the matter of gangsterism, it was a commonplace for a man of respectability to break bread at the same table with thugs and thieves. The impersonal attitude so manifest here made it possible for cut-throats, doctors, lawyers, actors, engineers, dowagers, and debutantes to gather under the same roof, and squeamishness, like your hat, was deposited in the cloakroom. The illegal drinking rendezvous, the up-stairs or below-cellar speakeasies, fostered this casualness, and that is why strangers in New York were able to spend a few convivial hours with people to whom they had just been introduced and separate with the warmth of old friends.

Although five years have gone by the boards since repeal, this attitude still persists. In New York the clothes do make the man, and unless you have a personal grudge against a party outside the law you seldom give his reputation a second thought.

THE other evening I happened to be in a gathering of five men who were having a few high-collars and talking, as men will, of this and that. One man there was a fine looking fellow about 45, well set-up, and, from his appearance prosperous.

Finally he said: "It probably won't interest you, but on the off chance that it will I'd like to mention that I am an ex-convict." He let that sink in and let his glance rove from face to face to see how much of an impression the statement made.

None of us indignantly put on our hats and left. On the contrary, we were burning with curiosity. I was itching to ask him what crime he had committed and so were the others. We waited for his story.

AND he told it. . . . Told it all, in detail. . . . This man was an officer in the navy. . . . He had always had a lot of money. . . . But he got into trouble. . . . He got into an argument that ended in a rough and tumble fight. . . . And his antagonist was killed.

There were no weapons, and there was no premeditation, but they convicted him and sent him to prison for 18 months. . . . He said: "I felt that I should not have been sent to prison, but I know it was good for me. . . . It rehabilitated me, because it taught me how to think, and behind those prison walls I came to know myself for the first time. I learned, first of all, to curb an ungovernable temper. My temper was always my worst enemy. All the trouble I've ever had can be traced to bursts of unreasonable anger. But that is behind me. Sometimes I think it would be impossible for me ever to give way completely to any emotion again."

Note: This man, whose commission in the navy was sacrificed when he went to prison, is now an accredited surgeon in New York. Recently he was offered the post of chief adviser to a large chemical concern, because of his vast knowledge of the chemicals that go into the manufacture of anaesthetics. If he accepts he will have to give up his practice, and he isn't sure that he is willing to do this just yet. He has three months to decide.

Timely Editorial

Senator Bulkley's Boast.

Ohio's Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, in a statement extolling the WPA, shows the magic depression cures of the New Deal medicine men work to increase unemployment. Says the Buckeye statesman and yesman:

"Starting July 1, 1935, WPA in Ohio rose to a peak employment of 187,000 in March of 1936 and fell to 81,000 in September of 1937.

"With the advent of the present business recession, WPA in Ohio again demonstrated its ability to function quickly and efficiently in an emergency by expending its rolls from 81,000 to 230,500 in five months. Today more are employed in WPA in Ohio than in any state of the union."

With such material the senator should be able to draft a brief vote-fetching speech in his campaign for renomination.

It might go something like this.

"Fellow citizens: I point with pride to the fact that after five years of the New Deal more unfortunate persons have been forced to go on relief than ever before.

"I am enthusiastically for the Roosevelt policies which, by causing the present business recession, have enabled Ohio to set a new record for unemployment in private business. Vote to return me to the senate and I will continue to support the New Deal in every way to the end that things may become worse and worse every day."—Columbus Dispatch.

CHAPTER XIV

An oppressive silence fell over the darkened porch following Clayton's statement. Larry sat perfectly motionless, scarcely breathing. The ticking of the clock in the front hall was plainly audible.

Clay stirred slightly; the swing moved.

"Well?" he questioned in a low tone. "What are you going to say to me, Larry?"

She drew a long quivering breath.

"Why did you say that to me?" she asked. "Did you...have to?"

"Because it happens to be true," he replied steadily. "Yes, I think I had to say it. Just because it is true...not for any reason like I think you have in mind."

"Listen, my dear." Clay leaned nearer. "Will you tell me that you don't want it to be true?"

Larry made no reply.

"I didn't mean to hurt you," he went on gently. "I'd never do that. The only reason I said anything about the twenty-nine days was...well, I knew the...I mean I couldn't expect you to believe it all at once. I couldn't myself, at first. I might need that much time, too, to line up some prospects to offer you. But that doesn't worry me half as much as what you're going to think and believe. May I try to explain?"

He accepted Larry's continued silence for consent.

"I don't profess to understand it. I don't want you to get the idea that I've never had any women friends, I have. And some good ones. But I've never considered them as anything more than friendships, never felt I could afford to...too busy getting a start for myself. Now, when the Lord knows I shouldn't afford even the idea, I go and do it. I've heard plenty about love at first sight, but I always supposed it was something they put in books by way of covering a lot of time in short order. It seems it can happen. More than that, it has happened. Could you ever make yourself believe that?"

"I don't know..."

"Then please try. It sort of scares me how much I love you and the way it grows all the time. You'll never know about these past weeks. I told myself it simply wouldn't do, that I'd only make things difficult for you at the office if I...you know. Why, every morning when I came in I was no good until I got a peek at you. After that, I could sort of settle down. That cost system I doped out seemed to me like a heaven-sent inspiration. I thought I was going to be able to have you near me, be able to talk to you. All that. I never dreamed everything would blow up all at once the way it did. It matters more than anything that ever happened to me. Why don't you say something?"

Larry drew a long breath. "I don't know what to say," she confessed helplessly.

* * *

Her brain felt curiously numb, at the same time her thoughts were whirling through it in a tumultous stream A confusion of real and unreal impressions. Impossible as it seemed, frightening as it was, Larry was conscious that the blood crowded into her heart when he said that he loved her. She still felt the pulsations. There was an instant of exultation, a surge of happiness. An instant's realization that he meant more to her than anybody in the wide world. He did.

Then it died.

All she could think of, with any degree of clarity, was his telling her of his love almost as soon as he had heard of her trouble. Wilbur Grant had done the same thing. She couldn't banish the haunting comparison. If Mr Odell only had waited a little...just a little. Maybe she could have heard it and have been happy.

But now....

"Larry, dear. Can't you say anything? Tell me you're not angry."

"I'm not angry. I just...just can't understand. That's all."

Clay's hand found one of her's. She let it lie in his firm clasp

"I don't understand either, Larry. I only know. And I know it's going to be like that always. I wish I could know if you think you'd ever learn to care a little ...if there could be a chance for me."

"Ah, don't...don't ask me anything!"

"I won't dear. I know I can't ask for anything. But that won't keep me from hoping most of all in the world that you'll give me a chance to prove the truth of what I've told you. Give me a chance to fight for you, Larry. For I will...to the last ditch. I promise not to annoy you or make things difficult. But I'm going to do all I can to make you love me And now I'm going."

He gave her hand a little squeeze and rose to his feet.

"I feel rather a brute," he told her, "to put such a finish to your day. I wouldn't blame you much if you hated me. But I had to tell you, and I'm glad I did. Good night, Larry."

"Good night..."

"Clay?"

"Good night...Clay."

"Thanks."

She heard the throb of his roadster's motor break the dark silence of the street. The car moved, gathered speed and was gone. She was still huddled in her corner of the swing, staring unseeingly into dark space, when her mother's voice roused her.

"Larry!"

"Yes, Mums"

"Are you alone?"

"Of course. I was just coming in." Larry moved slowly to the door and entered, to find Mrs. Layne hovering anxiously in the shadows. She was glad it was so nearly dark in the hall.

"Child! Do you know it's long after one? What are you doing?"

"Just thinking, Mums."

"Well? And what did he have to say? Is he going to do anything for you? Does he think he can?"

Larry never knew quite how she resisted an impulse to laugh hysterically.

"He wants to....I mean he's very sorry. He didn't know anything about it until Mr. Wardlaw told him."

"He should be sorry! But I'm glad if it wasn't his fault."

"It wasn't, Mums. I'm going to bed."

It seemed to Larry that she lay awake and staring hour after hour, that she had no more than fallen into a troubled slumber than she sat up suddenly to find her mother standing at the foot of the bed. The morning sunlight was streaming through the windows.

"What is it, Mums?"

"I hated to wake you, dear, but Olive is downstairs. She said she thought you'd want to see her before she went to work. Do you?"

"Oh, yes. Ask her to run up."

A moment later, Olive was crossing the floor with a rush. She flung her arms about Larry and hugged her close.

"You poor old, darling!" she cried. "It's a downright shame! We're all of us simply sick, furious. I mean it! When Tillie passed the word around that you weren't coming back we were ready to pull a strike!"

"What did she say?" Larry asked

"Just that Rommy dictated a few lines and said you were through. No reason given. He told her to put some money in the envelope and hand it to you. That's all she knew. It's all we know. But we're dying to hear what did happen."

Larry drew a relieved breath. Then no one in the office knew.

"It was just a culmination of things," she evaded. "I told you he came pretty near firing me over that letter I couldn't write. After that..." She had to fib some more, now. "After that, there was some trouble with the files...a contract was misplaced. It didn't amount to much, but I guess it was the last straw."

"Heavens! Now you've got me worried. You know I've looked after the files when you were on vacation. It'll be just like him to wish your job on me. And I always thought you had a cinch!"

"I guess nobody has a cinch there," Larry decided reflectively.

"Well, it's an everlasting shame. Any way you look at it. The office won't be the same place without you. Actually, there were tears in old Harrison's eyes when she told us. Did you leave anything in your desk that I can get for you? Or in your locker?"

Larry said that there were some little personal effects in her desk.

"I'll get them," Olive said. "I'll stop in on my way home tonight. Larry, darling...did you know that Mr. Odell didn't come to the office after you left? I'll bet a dollar he didn't know what Old Rommy did to you. He wouldn't have stood for it."

"You're crazy!" Larry felt her cheeks grow hot. "You know Rommy does what he likes. He wouldn't listen to anybody."

"Yeah? Well, I'm not so sure. There's one thing I can tell you, Mr. Odell would have put up a scrap before he'd see you go like that. He likes you too well."

"Don't be silly!"

"Don't be silly yourself. He's been like that about you from the first day he came into the office. I've seen him more than once looking at you when you didn't know it. He's kind of crazy about you and I don't mean perhaps. Ask any of the other girls.

"Yes. I'll be apt to," Larry retorted with a creditable sniff of disdain. "Mr. Odell isn't worrying his head any about me."

"Well, here's a funny thing. I wanted to see you last night... wanted to let you know how badly we all felt. So I came by here and there was boy friend Grant's car parked without. Right away I figured he had heard the news in some way and had come to hold your hand. Did he?"

"Well, he came. I don't remember holding hands with him."

"Maybe you were saving that up. Because I ran over this way again after I thought Wilbur might be home and in bed. This time, there was another car out front. So don't think you're putting over anything on little Ollie. I just hope our hero was terribly sorry for you and told you he would fix everything so you'd be happy. Did he?"

OLD TRAFFIC SUIT SETTLED

5-Year-Old Damage Case for $20,000 Dismissed; Mother Wins $1,000 Verdict.

Two damage suits resulting from automobile accidents, one for $20,000 and the other asking $5,000, had been cleared from the Richland county common pleas court docket today.

A $20,000 damage suit filed five years ago by Mrs. Rose Booksbaum, Mansfield, against Jacob M. Cousins, Mansfield, was settled and dismissed. Amount of settlement was not made public. Costs totaling $21 were assessed against Cousins.

Mrs. Booksbaum sought damages for head and multiple body injuries she received in November, 1933, when the car in which she was riding skidded off route 30 west of Mansfield and turned over. Cousins was driving the car and she was riding with him as a guest, the plaintiff's petition said.

A $1,000 judgment was awarded the plaintiff in a $5,000 damage suit brought against Lee A. Herring of Mansfield by Mrs. Virtilee Dillon, Mansfield.

Mrs. Dillon asked damages to cover injuries suffered by her six-year-old daughter, Grace, when the child was struck by a car driven by Herring. The accident occurred Nov. 4, 1935, at Arthur avenue and Spruce street, Mansfield.

BARBARY COAST ECHO RISES

HALF GARBAGE BILLS UNPAID

City Extends Collection Period for Two and Half Days.

With approximately 50 per cent of the 3,600 garbage collection bills still outstanding, Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the city water, sewer and garbage departments today announced a two and a half day extension of the collection period.

Lingafelter said the offices of his department in the city building will remain open until Saturday noon to receive payments of the garbage collection bills, that to date represent only $3,500 of the $6,500 billing.

Customers who have not paid their bills by Saturday will have their names placed on the delinquent list and the service will be discontinued June 1, Lingafelter said.

SENIOR GIRLS GUESTS AT ASSOCIATION TEA

Hold Affair at Westbrook Country Club; Trio Gives Program, Mrs. Gibson, Miss West Appear, Branch President Receives.

AT THE Westbrook Country club yesterday afternoon the Mansfield Branch of the American Association of University Women entertained more than 100 members and guests of the organization at a tea. This affair was in honor of senior girls of Mansfield high school who are planning to further their academic education in some higher institution.

During the afternoon a trio composed of Ann Jeanette Klinger and Joseph and Frank Pival played. Receiving the guests were Mrs. K. E. Buhr, branch president; Mrs. R. D. Campbell, chairman in charge of arrangements, and Miss Kathryn Fighter, May queen of the high school.

Miss Margaret West presented a play which was written for the A. A. U. W. "In Pursuit of Her Heritage" was the title of the three-episode skit. Miss Wilma Snider read the first part which was entitled "Boarding School for Females, 1750." The second part portrayed education in America in 1882 and Miss Edith Ross presented it.

The final part of the skit was "Modern Womanhood," an epilogue, read by Mrs. Merritt Giles. Mrs. E. D. Gibson accompanied by Mrs. G. D. Schneider played two violin solos, "Perpetual Motion" and "Reverie."

Tea was served in the main dining room from a large table decorated with iris. Mrs. Henry Huston and Miss Ruth Dunham poured. An exhibit of college annuals, papers and magazines and other mementos were displayed throughout the afternoon.

The committee in charge included Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, Miss Pearl Danback, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. F. J. Heringhaus, Miss West, Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Campbell.

Church Societies Present Program At Annual Dinner

Mrs. W. L. Yohn and daughters, Vera and Mary Myrtle, were in charge of arrangements and the program for the annual mother-daughter banquet held at the First United Brethren church yesterday. There were 108 present for the dinner which was given by the missionary societies of the church.

Miss Mildred Strome opened the program with a toast to the mothers which was followed by a toast to the daughters by Mrs. Mary Hout. Mrs. L. F. Hout and Mrs. B. H. Dudley sang a duet after which Mrs. J. L. Boyer, Mrs. E. O. Chronister and Miss Carrie Lucas presented three word pictures of Biblical characters. Miss Margaret Cline played a piano solo and Shirley Swinehart sang a solo. A vocal trio composed of Mrs. Dwight Kunkel, Mrs. Wendell Brown and Mrs. Douglas Miller sang several selections and the program was completed with a playlet, "One Life to Live," presented by the Otterbein Guild.

The banquet tables were decorated with garden flowers and lighted tapers. The next meeting of the Women's Missionary society will be June 2 at the church with Mrs. Leo Jones and her committee in charge.

Sodality Entertains at Benefit Card Party

Mrs. E. F. Davis, Mrs. T. L. Kenny and Mrs. Edward Irwin were in charge of arrangements for the benefit card social which was held Monday evening by the St. Rita Sodality at St. Peter's Catholic church. Bridge winners were John Kass, Frank Loykovich, Mrs. C. Smith and Mrs. George Stuhldreher.

Pinochle prizes were awarded to Paul Dillon, R. Denninger, Mrs. J. Bower and Mrs. John Grassel. Others winners were M. Davis, J. R. Davis, Mrs. Paul Dillon and Mrs. W. A. Wehinger. Mrs. Mark Lybarger won the door prize.

GUEST OF CLUB.

Mrs. J. W. Weil was a guest when the Valencia club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Edward Longsdorf, South Adams street. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon and the prizes were won by Mrs. LeRoy Tressel and Mrs. F. U. Nail. The next meeting will be June 7 with Mrs. W. F. McFadden, Ohvesburg road, as hostess.

Print Dress, Lacy, Ribbon Trimmed Lingerie For Brides

GRANDMOTHER'S LINGERIE INSPIRES 1938 TROUSSEAU

FOR WARM WEATHER CHIC

Paris makes a contribution to the bride's trousseau with a short-sleeved dress and a long-sleeved jacket of blue and white printed printed crepe designed by Balenciaga. White gloves and a straw sailor makes smart accessories for day when the mercury mounts.

Joan of Arc Circle Has Social Meeting Tuesday

Joan of Arc circle, Daughters of Isabella had a social meeting last night at the club rooms in the Bird building. Cards were played at 10 tables with prizes being awarded to Miss Martha Gerstmeyer and Mrs. J. F. Loykovich for bridge and to Mrs. Joseph Menrath and Mrs. P. A. Lenox in five hundred.

Another prize was given to Miss Marie Kalbfleisch. Luncheon was served by Chairwoman Mrs. Joseph B. Woerth. The next meeting will be a business session June 14 in the club rooms.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

In honor of her son, Bobby's seventh birthday, Mrs. Thomas Wilson, 45 Columbia avenue, entertained eight children yesterday at a party. DISPLAY FLOWERS

A display of spring flowers in charge of Mrs. Rufus Ulrich was a feature of the meeting of the Willard Garden club at the home of Misses Nell and Edith Brown Monday evening.

Announcement of the flower musical to be held Thursday afternoon, June 2, was made by the chairman, Mrs. H. F. Murray. The affair is to be in the social hall at the Presbyterian church for members of the Garden Club and invited guests. Mrs. J. M. Elder is arranging the program. There will be a display of spring flowers with especial arrangements of table decorations.

Other members of the committee for this affair are Mrs. J. C. Gibson, Mrs. J. F. Wise, Mrs. R. N. Crooks and Mrs. Robert Henderson.

The program for Monday evening included readings by Mrs. W. H. Newcomer and Mrs. Henderson and a talk by J. C. Gibson, president of the Pioneer Rubber company and a former president of the Garden club.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and Miss Anna Peck and Mrs. D. Lowery.

GO TO CLEVELAND

In the interest of purchasing additional X-ray equipment for Municipal hospital, a group went to Cleveland Monday. There is now $3,015 in the special gift fund which has been kept for needed equipment for the institution.

Those who went to Cleveland were: Miss Gertrude Baker, superintendent; Dr. L. H. Whisler, Dr. J. C. Steiner, Dr. Wade McCreight, City Clerk Clarence Hessler and members of the hospital board, Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger, C. H. Strahm, E. H. Brown, Mrs. T. A. Purcell and Mrs. B. C. Lewis.

Mrs. Walter Willoughby, who has been visiting relatives here and at New Philadelphia, expects to leave for her home at Ashland, Wis., Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Hostess to Knotty Club Tuesday

Mrs. P. J. Walter, 339 First avenue, was hostess yesterday to members of the Knotty club when five hundred was played at two tables. Guest of the group was Mrs. Marion Day.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ross White and Mrs. Guy North. The next club meeting will be held June 14 at the home of Mrs. Harry Roberts, 50 Spring street.

Personals

Mrs. Minnie Schands, Los Angeles, Cal., is spending several days in Mansfield visiting friends.

Miss Ruth Bechtel of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, visited yesterday and today with Miss Helen White, West Third street.

* * *

Mrs. John S. Daley, West First street, returned yesterday from Marietta where she visited Mr. and Mrs. George Blazier over the week-end.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McClure, 103 Helen avenue, announced late yesterday the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Reno R. Chicolani, son of Mrs. Ben Benedict, 198 Grant street. The ceremony was performed May 23, 1936, at the home of Judge Frank Moran, Newport, Ky. Mrs. Chicolani is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, and Mr. Chicolani is on the staff of the National Guard bureau.

STYLE WHIMSIES

Mannishly tailored pajamas of silk crepe or silk shirtings are again to appear on the beaches, or on the terrace or yacht. In fact, they will be seen wherever milady lounges.

* * *

For daytime, tiny bells on necklaces and bracelets emit dainty sounds, or maybe a spray of gold flowers pinned on the lapel of a suit or as a shoulder corsage will give forth faint sweet sounds as no "lily of the field" ever did.

THREE FRIENDS FETE BRIDE-ELECT TUESDAY

LAST NIGHT three friends of Miss Dorothy Garrison entertained in her honor at a personal shower and bridge party at the home of Miss Eleanor Clingan, 130 Vennum avenue. The other hostesses were Miss Virginia Chew and Miss Vivian Miller. Gifts were arranged for Miss Garrison on a bridge table.

Cards were played at three tables with prizes going to Mrs. James Courtney and Miss Josephine Henness. Garden flowers were used for decorating the luncheon table. The three hostesses presented the honoree with an electrical gift.

Miss Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Garrison, 136 Western avenue, will become the bride of Claire Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Bell, 357 Bowman street, Friday at the First Lutheran church.

Last night's party was one in a series of pre-nuptial affairs which have been held since the announcement of the wedding date at a recent tea. Mrs. Richard Wagner, Mt. Gilead, Miss Winifred VanDereau and Mrs. William Daisley have entertained this past week for the bride-to-be.

Tonight Miss Rosalee Henness, 142 Stewart avenue, will be hostess for another party honoring Miss Garrison.

Linnaeus Garden Club Hears Paper

A dessert-luncheon was served yesterday to members of the Linnaeus Garden club when members of the organization met at the home of Mrs. H. M. Armstrong, 30 Penn avenue. The table was decorated with garden flowers.

"Spray or Pay the Enemies of Garden" was the title of the paper given by Mrs. H. L. Lanehart. "Forecast of Growing Things" by Virginia Brasier and "Interlude" by William Griffith were the two poems which Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff read.

Mrs. George H. Rusk, West First street, and Mrs. Walter Rusk, Sturges avenue, returned today from Columbus where they were visiting yesterday.

Ruth Circle Has Dessert-Bridge

The Ruth Sewing circle of the Eastern Stars met at the Masonic temple yesterday for their annual guest party. Dessert was served at a table decorated in a patriotic color scheme with a fort and toy soldiers serving as centerpiece. Other decorations were red poppies and lighted red, white and blue tapers.

Mrs. Lois Cole and her committee were in charge and Mrs. Sophia L. Burton and Mrs. Grace Chew poured coffee. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with score prizes being awarded to Mrs. Joseph Haupt, Mrs. Orean Hoyer and Mrs. Lawrence Houk.

The next meeting will be a picnic at North Lake park pavilion June 30 at noon. Mrs. Bernice Bishop, Mrs. Margaret Barrett and Mrs. Isa Boughton are in charge of arrangements.

Carriers' Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. Fry

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Letter Carriers' association met at the home of Mrs. James Fry, Forrest avenue, yesterday with 12 present. Following the business meeting, games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Hoover, Mrs. Roscoe Traxler and Mrs. Foster Ost.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out for the serving of luncheon. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be June 28 at the home of Mrs. William Harnett, Helen avenue.

CIRCLE TO MEET.

Circle Two of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Lester Newman, Vennum avenue, at 1 p. m.

Young Woman Asks How To Get Boyfriend

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: What does a young man of today think a girl should be? I mean, what qualities do they consider in a girl when they are looking for a wife?

"I am five feet three inches in height, fairly good looking, have a swell home and job, but can't seem to get a boy friend, I mean a steady boy friend, and not just one who wants to go with you for a good time. Do you think it is because I am sort of bashful? Can you please tell me what a girl does to get a boy friend?

"DIMPLES."

I have tried to answer that question so very many times in this column, Dimples, that I'm going to turn the matter over to an authority, a man who has written a book on the subject, no less than John Beeckman, who has recently written, "Ladies, I Give You—The Way to His Heart."

Of course I cannot quote the whole book, but just a few samples.

"Let's begin with the irrefutable statement," the volume begins, "that the easiest way to attract is to be attractive."

* * *

"The first rule is a rule of behavior. All men, whatever their state of intelligence, have one idea about women in common. They believe that women are ministering angels."

Then he goes on to explain that by ministering angels he doesn't mean soothing the aching brow and feeding the brute, but merely that a girl must be diverting and not expect men to do all the entertaining. She must be a contributor to the good cheer, not be just a taker.

His second point is that every man wants to feel he is attractive. And that is a good idea. You cannot make a good impression on a person in whom you are not interested, or even if you act as if you are not interested.

Many girls are so afraid of giving the impression that they are "chasing the man," who attracts them, that they act bored and utterly indifferent while in his presence, and he naturally feels it and doesn't like it.

Well, that is a good start, and maybe I can give you a few more of Mr. Beeckman's views some other time. You can make a start with these two, Dimples. Aim to be entertaining and give the boy you want to attract a good time. And show him that you like him and consider him attractive—and do it in much the same way in which you give your girl friends the same idea.

For health and pocket-book's sake raise vegetables. Vine ripened juicy tomatoes, plump berries, crisp lettuce or vitamin laden salad greens, are all easy to grow and you will always have them fresh.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

RUFFING AS AN ENTRY

Usually ruffing is done to get rid of the losing card which is ruffed. Sometimes its more important function is to act as an entry to a hand which otherwise cannot get the lead. There are times when a trump finesse must be avoided because it risks the loss of a crucial trump which is the only possible entry to the dummy.

North and South ended in a contract of 4-Spades on this deal, but South handled the play in such a manner that he was set two tricks.

When West led the heart K, East played the 8 as a signal to continue. The heart 10 followed. East overtook with the A to lead the spade 5. When West won the Q finesse with the K, he returned another spade. With no possible entry to the dummy to play the diamonds, declarer was obliged to give up two club tricks.

His correct procedure on the third trick was to have played the spade A, as from the lead he should deduce that the finesse was likely to lose. The clubs A and K should then have been cashed and the lone trump in dummy used to ruff a club. On the diamond A the remaining club could have been tossed, so that the losing tricks would have been limited to two hearts and a spade.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, May 26.

A very propitious state of affairs may be looked for under this day's sidereal direction, with all things under an impetus for action, growth and expansion, particularly in those things relating to business, writings, publishing or promotion. It seems a good time for pushing for new contracts or major undertakings, with finances ready for meritorious propositions.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year with an outlet for their well-stimulated energies and ambitions, with the support of influential personages awaiting meritorious propositions.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, energetic, capable and have a fine initiative, which may attract financial support for sound business ideas. It should be personally popular, attractive and socially successful.

Today's Recipes.

Beet Salad.—Use canned beets or bake four medium sized beets until tender, peel and cut into one-half-inch cubes. Add one pound shelled peanuts or peacans. Serve with boiled salad dressing on lettuce with garnish or finely shredded red cabbage. The beets are better if marinated in French dressing for half an hour before mixing with the nuts.

Strawberry Mallobet.

One-half pound marshmallows, two cups cold milk, one and one-half cups crushed strawberries, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice. Place marshmallows and two tablespoons of the cold milk in top part of double boiler. Heat slowly over hot water, folding over and over until marshmallows are about half melted. Remove from heat and continue folding mixture until it is smooth and spongy. Let cool until lukewarm then blend in milk, crushed strawberries and lemon juice. Pour into freezing tray of mechanical refrigerator, and freeze at the coldest degree. Stir several times during the freeing. When frozen to a stiff mush, beat with rotary egg beater, then return to refrigerator to finish freezing.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

My laughter muscles twitched at my young son's boyish bombast as he "confessed his sins" with the corollary warning against being brought into contact with Hank, but any mother knows how my heart yearned toward him.

That there was something more or less serious behind his vehement dislike of Hank, as evidenced by the clash between them, was plain even to anyone who had not studied even the rudiments of psychology. But, though I guessed that Junior was eager and willing to tell me what lay behind his rancor, I wanted to wait until I should hear what Katherine had to tell me, and could profit by her sane and wise counsel.

I put my hand on my son's head and rumpled his hair with a familiar, affectionate gesture that I know he loves in much the same fashion as a puppy loves to have his throat rubbed.

Junior Is Pleased.

"We won't talk about punishment or apologies now," I said. "You made a very manly confession of your fault, and I'll think out later what must be done. Just now, I think you need a shower and some fresh clothing after your journey. Does Roderick know where your bags are?"

"Sure thing," he said, but his eyes above the lips that gave the brusque assent were eloquent with something that broke bounds after I had stepped to the house telephone connecting my room with the kitchen, and told Katie to send Roderick up with Junior's suitcase, cautioning her not to burden him with the camping clothing.

"Oh! Mums!" he burst out, "is there another mother like you in the whole world?"

"Plenty of them, Darling," I returned lightly, "but I'm glad to have you think I'm the only one of my kind."

"You're the best of any kind," he returned extravagantly. "You always know just what a fellow needs, what will make him feel good, straighten him out. You just watch me. I'm going to be a good boy now I'm home. I'm not going to make you one bit of trouble."

Clothing Arrives.

A knock at the door, Roderick's, punctuated his resolve, and he involuntarily stiffened.

"Don't tell Rod what I promised you," he whispered, and I whispered back "Of course not" as I opened the door to my youngest orphaned nephew, whom Dicky and I have taken as our own to raise as a brother to Junior.

"Here y'are, Jun," Roderick said, depositing suitcase and bag on the floor. ' brought everything up except the camping things. Katie said you didn't want those."

"That's right," Junior replied. "Thanks a lot," and then the two stood looking at each other with a certain wariness.

"Hank's fit to be tied," Roderick volunteered.

"He needs tying—" Junior snapped, and I hastily interrupted the colloquy.

"Junior's going to have a shower right away in my bathroom," I volunteered. "I'll have him hurry through it, so you can come up and take one, too, after he gets through. Tell Bill and Hank to take theirs in the guest bathroom, and Aunt Katherine will take Faith into the nursery. Tell them all for me that they must hurry, for dinner is almost ready."

I virtually "shooed" him out of the room as I spoke, for I had seen his face darken when Junior spoke of Hank, and realized that, instead of being arrayed with Junior against the bigger boys in the "usual lineup", as Dicky calls it, he was siding with his own bigger brother against his young cousin, partner in many battles against the assumed authority of the older lads.

"Mums," Junior said tentatively when Roderick had gone.

"Yes, Darling," I said as he hesitated.

Doesn't Want Company.

"Do you think we could go somewhere, anywhere, as soon as I have my shower and get dressed? Rod ought to have the place to himself, don't you think? He'll be more comfortable.

"Yes, I think he will be better off alone," I assented, heroically keeping my risibles under control, for he was so deliciouly transparent in his desire to avoid his cousin. And when, showered and dressed in "civilized clothes" with his hair slicked back, he came back into my sitting room, I caught him to me in the ecstasy only mothers know at reunion with a child returned.

"We'll go over into your father's room," I said, and flinched at the query I knew would follow it.

"But where is Daddy? Isn't he around? Didn't he came home to see us?"

THEATER

PROBABLY inspired by the title of "100 Men and A Girl," Alexander Korda is making a picture about 5,000 men and a girl. Valerie Hobson is the only girl in the cast of Korda's film of India, "Mutiny In The Mountains." . . . United Artists are going in for realism in the making of "Graustark," and they'll reproduce, authentically, the Paris exposition of 1900 as the place where Grenfall Lowrey met the princess. . . . "Farewell To Arms," one of the greatest motion pictures ever made, will be re-issued, but it will have a number of scenes cut because of the stringent, present-day censorship. Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper were the leads in it. . . .

"Robin" Held Over.

The Ohio theater engagement of "Adventures of Robin Hood" will be extended to cover a full week, for the picture will be retained through Friday. It opened its engagement last Saturday. It has tremendous appeal because of its subject matter and the stupendous proportions on which it has been filmed. The cast, too, is an attraction for Errol Flynn and Olivia deHavilland are popular, while Basil Rathbone has a loyal following among devotees of fine acting. On Saturday the Ohio will bring another box office attraction, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," a romantic comedy with Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert.

Juveniles Are Popular.

Riding in on the wave of popularity for juvenile actors, Bonita Granville is in approximately the same age bracket as the wonderchild, Deanna Durbin. She has talent and experience, but it is difficult for a player doing unsympathetic roles to make a lasting hit. If her company is fair with little Miss Granville they'll give her a chance to play a well behaved miss once in awhile. Dolores Costello, on whom trouble has piled up in the last few years, comes back to the screen to play the governess in "Beloved Brat," which opens at the Madison today for two days. Donald Crisp and Natalie Moorhead play the parents.

Pat Goes on.

The Robert Taylors and the Clark Gables may come and go—but Pat O'Brien goes on forever. While the high powered romantic stars are riding high on the crest of popularity, they have a feeling that it may not be for long. Pat O'Brien, on the other, probably can make pictures for as many years as he likes. He's been at it for more than 10 years now and in all that time there's never been a let-down. He's made good, bad and indifferent pictures, but he's never turned in a bad performance and it's doubtful if he's ever been seen in a role that didn't appeal to the fans. Nothing startling about Pat's career, but it's been consistently successful. His latest picture is with Kay Frances in "Women Are Like That," at the Majestic. "Island In The Sky" is also shown.

Trouble Film Re-Issued.

Among the old successes to be re-issued is "Trader Horn," which is appearing at the Ritz this week. This was made just as talking pictures came into being, and was the most pretentious location picture ever made. It took Harry Carey, Duncan Renaldo and Edwina Booth and a company of 40 technicians into the jungles of Africa for months. Bad luck dogged the footsteps of all three major players after the picture was completed, and Miss Booth, who contracted jungle fever, has never recovered. The picture was based on the sensationally successfully book of the same name and deals with the adventures of two white men in the jungle who find a "white goddess." The second feature, "You Can't Have Everything" has Alice Faye, Don Ameche and the Ritz Brothers.
